The men seized the keys and barricaded themselves with six warders in another part of the prison.

The fire was brought under control, but subsequently a desperate struggle occurred between the rebellious prisoners and their custodians in which five policemen and five prisoners were injured.

MAURICE BOGDONOFF
DIES IN MELROSE

Lowell business circles were saddened this morning by the news of the sudden death in Melrose of Maurice H. Bogdonoff, 27 years old, one of the proprietors of the Depot Cash market. He had been at the New England sanatorium for the past two weeks, suffering from heart trouble. Death came about 5 o'clock this morning. The relatives were quickly notified and arrangements made soon afterward to have the body removed to Lowell. The funeral will probably be held Friday.

Mr. Bogdonoff was one of a large family of children, all of whom are engaged in Lowell's mercantile world. He was born in Liverpool, Eng., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin and Leah Bogdonoff. There are four brothers, Philip D., Mark J., Harry A. and Jacob R. Bogdonoff, also one sister, Miss Catherine Bogdonoff, who survives.

CONFERENCE ON

Delegates Hold First Executive Session With the French Group

to Point of Formal Expression Before Briand Leaves
Hope to Press Negotiations

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(By the Associated Press.)—The delegations of the five powers went into their first executive conference on land armaments today with the French group, hoping that the negotiations would be pressed to the point of a formal expression of some character before the departure of Premier Briand for France.

Just what direction such an expression could take at the present stage was an uncertain event in the minds of the French themselves, and they took their place at the table prepared to place details of their program in the light of suggestions from the other delegates. The premier would like to take home with him a definite declaration of the powers supporting France in her determination not to weaken materially her

PELLETIER ASKS WRIT
Removal is Sought is Unconstitutional

BOSTON, Nov. 23.—District Attorney Joseph C. Pelletier today attacked as unconstitutional the statute under which the original proceedings for his removal from office were brought before the supreme court.

He filed with the court a petition asking for a writ of prohibition to restrain further action on the information which was filed against him by Attorney General J. Weston Allen on October 26. This information alleged misconduct in office.

The district attorney in his petition contended that as his was an elective office, he could be removed only by impeachment proceedings before the legislature. The statute which gives a majority of the justices of the supreme court the right to remove a district attorney after hearing is in conflict with the 14th amendment to the constitution of the United States, he asserted.

Mr. Pelletier announced that should the state supreme court fail to grant his petition for a writ of prohibition, he would bring the matter to the federal court.

The petition, which names Chief Justice Rugg and six other justices of the supreme court as the respondents, asserts that the statute under which the action against Pelletier was brought is a law which abridges the right of public employment as guaranteed by the sixth article of the bill of rights of the inhabitants of the commonwealth.

His removal, and the appointment of another person to the office of district attorney would, the petition says, interfere with the freedom of an election and deprive the inhabitants of the district of their right to elect a district attorney and the petitioner of his right to hold that office by virtue of an election.

"There is no remedy in law or equity which the petitioner or the inhabitants of the Suffolk district have against the wrongs and injuries proposed and intended by the respondents except a writ of prohibition," the petition says in conclusion.

In his formal answer to the second petition for his removal, which was filed with the clerk of the supreme court, District Attorney Pelletier denied that he had been guilty, as charged, of malfeasance, misfeasance and nonfeasance in office, that he had conducted himself in an unlawful and reprehensible manner, and that he was an unfit person to hold the office.

He denied each and every allegation and particular set forth in each and every paragraph of the specifications. The answer said:

ARBuckle JURY

Inspect Suite Where Comedian is Alleged to Have

Finger Prints on Door Said to Have Been Made During Struggle

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—The jury trying Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle for manslaughter today was to visit the Hotel St. Francis suite where the film comedian, host at a party last Labor Day, is alleged to have inflicted injuries on Virginia Rappe, screen actress, which caused her death.

High spots of the proceedings in Judge Landerbach's court yesterday when the prosecution asked, were testimony concerning finger prints on a door, declared to have been made in a struggle between Arbuckle and Miss Rappe; an assertion by a hotel maid that she heard a woman screaming in the suite, and the exclusion of evidence of a detective who had declared Miss Rappe had made a statement to him favorable to the defendant.

BOX OF BONES IN COURT
Passed to Jurors for Examination at Trial of "Bluebeard"

VERMILION, Nov. 23.—(By the Associated Press.)—A small tin box containing a pound and a half of bones was passed around today for examination by the jury which is trying "Bluebeard" Landru for murder. The prosecution claims they are human bones, all that remain of the 11 alleged victims of the prisoner.

Some of the fragments were so small that they had to be examined by microscopes. The defense challenges the authenticity of the bones.

"What has been your method of examining these bones, by fire, by poison or by straining?" was Judge Gilbert's first question to Landru as court reconvened today.

"It would be much simpler to make the hypothesis that I killed none at all," responded Landru.

The prosecution undertook to prove that the alleged victims were cremated. Pointing to the small bone stove, placed in the center of the courtroom, the prisoner shouted derisively: "Why, you couldn't cremate a chicken in it."

The prosecution charges that the "Bluebeard" used the stove to cremate his alleged victims after he had chopped them up into bits.

SATISFACTORY GAINS BY TRUST COMPANIES

Satisfactory gains have been made by Massachusetts trust companies during the year ending June 30, 1921, according to statistics just issued by the United States Mortgage and Trust Co. of New York city.

The report shows aggregate resources of the trust companies of the country at the close of business, June 30, of $12,323,430.81.

Commenting upon trust company conditions during the past year, John W. Patten, president of the New York institution, says no stronger evidence of the stability of trust companies has been forthcoming during the past year in connection with banking operations. While the year was one of tremendous recession of prices and values attended by reductions of bank loans, contraction of credit and rapid falling off of deposits, the resources of the trust companies of the United States show only a slight decrease. There has been a substantial increase in all branches of fiduciary business and plenty of proof to show the value of trust company service.

ITALIAN OFFICER
RAPS CONFERENCE

ROME, Nov. 23.—Criticism of the American limitation of armaments program was voiced today by Gen. Benvenuto of the Italian army in the newspaper Il Paese, organ of former Premier Nitti, which has been critical of the Washington conference.

"Secretary of States Hughes has committed several errors, says Gen. Benvenuto. 'First that of considering naval armament separately from land armament; second, in believing that naval power resides in big ships; third, in thinking that the problem of disarmament will be automatically solved when agreement among the United States, England and Japan are reached.'"

ELECTION NOTES

It was decided this morning to pay the precinct officers $15 each for their work at the primaries.

Towards noon the office of the election commission was cleared out and the crowd moved over to Commissioner Marchand's office as the commission held their regular quarters for registration which started at 12 o'clock.

About 150 spectators crowded around the office where the returns were given out. A like number of city employees waiting to draw their pay made standing room at a premium. It took a good man to elbow his way through the crowd.

The signs posted in different parts of the building relative to no smoking were hardly noticed if the clouds of smoke can be taken as a criterion. Evidently the no-smoking rule was waived on this occasion.

At the primary of 1911 when the commission form of government was inaugurated, the final returns reached city hall at 5:30 a. m. There were then 120 candidates but the ballot was short.

The necessity of checking returns as they reached the commission's office to detect errors, was a tiresome task for Clerk J. Omer Altard.

Long before a precinct was heard from, results of first blocks were received by the newspapermen.

Precinct 1 of ward 1, usually the first precinct in, did not come in until 4:05.

Fight for Second Place in the Mayoralty Contest Between O'Sullivan and Brown

TWENTY PRECINCTS HEARD FROM

The official returns from 20 precincts show the following results:

O'Sullivan	2824
Brown	2819
Thompson	3920
Scott	1091
Donovan	2575
Mignault	1402
Donnelly	2475

Unofficial returns based on the canvass of the 28 polling places indicated that Mayor Thompson is nominated by a substantial plurality. As to second place the fight lies between Mr. O'Sullivan and Mr. Brown so far as present indications point at 2 p. m. Mr. Donnelly and Mr. Donovan have changed positions quite often, but while they rank high in some wards, their vote has fallen off in others, so that it seems their chances for nomination have vanished. The official figures regarding second place, however, may bring surprises and show that the unofficial reports were somewhat misleading. Mr. Brown's friends claim that he will be nominated.

As to the other contests, while in a general way it was indicated that a number of candidates for councillor and school board were well supported in all the wards, there was no opportunity to judge as to the standing of the candidates for the council at large or school board inasmuch as the returns from some wards had not been received.

Much disappointment was held on all sides at the delay in receiving the returns. As the day advanced interest continued particularly in the mayoralty contest and the inquiries were persistent as to who should have second place.

Never before in the history of the city was there such a hold-up in reaching final results as in the present instance. The tardiness of keeping the polls open until 10 o'clock at night is shown in the delay and difficulty of computing the vote for such a large number of candidates for the various offices.

At 5 o'clock in the morning only five precincts had been sent in. At 7, a couple more had been received, and somewhere about 8:30 the total vote of ward 3 had been turned in.

Opinions based upon the complexion of the straggling returns at hand during the early hours, varied and shifted from one candidate to another. At that time eight precincts were in, including the whole of ward 2, and the vote stood as follows: Donovan 922, Brown 130, Thompson 650, O'Sullivan 654, Donnelly 617, Mignault 242, Scott 202.

From 8 o'clock the returns began to come in more freely and some candidates who had been put in the lead by democratic precincts were thrown back by the returns from precincts of a different complexion. Thus the candidates were kept in suspense between hope and despair.

At 9 o'clock nine precincts showed a different situation with Thompson as the leader. The total was as follows: Thompson 1,079, Donovan 978, Brown 887, O'Sullivan 811, Donnelly 725, Mignault 321, Scott 312.

Even the betting men who usually get the most reliable dope on election figures, were perfectly at sea and unable to form any reliable opinion as to the final outcome of the mayoralty contest. Judging from the frequency with which the names of certain candidates for councillor-at-large and the school board were mentioned in the various precincts as heard by the spectators.

The totals and standing for 11 precincts are: Thompson, 1,079; Brown, 1,117; O'Sullivan, 1,174; Scott, 418; Mignault, 358.

Donnelly made another big gain in precinct 2 of ward 9 and shot into second place by 105, when he got 133 votes in this precinct. The vote was: O'Sullivan, 218; Brown, 209; Quinn, 163; Thompson, 303; Scott, 51; Donovan 163; Mignault, 25; Donnelly, 316.

"POLITICAL EXPEDIENT"

Homer S. Cummings Praises
Arms Conference in Cambridge Address

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 23.—Homer S. Cummings, former chairman of the Democratic national committee, in an address before the Woodrow Wilson club at the Harvard Union last night, characterized the armament conference at Washington as a "political expedient" without offering susceptibility or provincial prejudices.

"The calling of this conference, and the activities of the delegates up to the present time, is the most heartening thing that has occurred in America since the dark day when the Senate opened the debate upon the terms of the Versailles treaty," he continued. "The general armament program is clearly indicative of an already greatly changed viewpoint. Free from the exigencies of politics and relieved of the bedeviling of partisanship, the better spirit of our country again manifests itself. The world's desire is centered upon the present conference, and uncounted millions of watchers in every land follow its deliberations with renewed hope."

"It offers no challenge to the league of nations. It is merely attempting to perform part of the work which our own country prevented the league from performing. In that sense, it is an act of atonement. Its scope for beneficial action is limited, but its success would be a mighty triumph for the forces of right."

"If naval armaments can be limited, and terms arranged for amicable living for those whose lands border upon the Pacific, it will be a noble achievement. Such an understanding, if it is to possess the dignity of a solemn engagement between nations, must take the form of a treaty. Any other course would be a subterfuge unworthy of a great historic occasion fraught with such consequences to the human race."

"Such a treaty, in order to be binding, would have to be filed by Great Britain and Japan with the secretariat of the League of Nations, as provided in Article XVIII of the covenant. It might thus naturally fall within the purview of the league. Let us hope that considerations of party expediency will not prevent our country from taking advantage of any useful agency that makes for world peace."

"If the conference in Washington is to proceed beyond the question of the limitation of naval armaments, it will be confronted with the question of guarantees to France, and by a fatal circle the argument will lead back to the essentials of the League of Nations, and even to the provisions of Article X itself. All these features have been brought into the equation and they cannot be eliminated."

R. R. SHOP CRAFTS ASK WAGE INCREASE

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Wage increases of 13 cents an hour have been requested of virtually all carriers in the country by the heads of shop crafts unions, representing about 400,000 employees, who have asked railroad executives for conferences on the subject, Dec. 20. This action follows the railroad's recent petition to the United States railway labor board proposing to cut the wages of shop crafts employees to the "going rate" for the same class of labor in other industries.

A decision of the labor board announced on July 20, 1920, had declared retroactive to May 1, 1920, raised the pay of boiler-makers, blacksmiths and electrical linemen and sheet metal workers from 12 cents an hour to 25. The sixth class of shop crafts workers, the car repairmen, received an increase of from 57 to 59 cents an hour.

The general 12 1/2 per cent cut in wages, effective July 1, 1921, reduced the wages of the first five classes mentioned from 55 cents an hour to 77 cents, the present rate, while the pay of car repairmen was replaced at 72 cents. If the increases which the shop crafts presidents demand are granted, the car repairmen will receive 85 cents an hour and the other classes of workers 90 cents.

Roads Oppose

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Application of a rule intended to prescribe a method of paying railroad clerks by the hour and which, in fact, proved to give certain employees of New England railroads an increase in pay was declared unjust by representatives of the roads, asking an adjustment yesterday in a hearing before the railroad labor board.

Under rule 66 of the clerks' national agreement, a method of determining the daily rate of clerks paid by the week or month was prescribed.

Several New England roads, including the Boston & Maine, Maine Central, New York, New Haven & Hartford, and the Portland Terminal, employed many clerks at a daily rate, some of them working six days and others seven days a week.

Briar roots weighing 6000 tons, for the manufacture of pipes, are exported annually from Canada.

EXPLOSION AT DEDHAM

Gasoline Tank Blew Up—
Workman Seriously Injured
—Factory Damaged

DEDHAM, Nov. 23.—Explosion of a gasoline storage tank outside the plant of the Hodges Finishing Co., at East Dedham, just before the noon hour today resulted in serious injuries to a workman, broke many windows in the factory and gave the 1600 employees a bad fright.

The tank, which is said to have been empty, was being repaired by Lawrence J. Bradley and Thomas J. Ketchford. The explosion, believed to have been due to ignition of fumes, shattered the tank and threw Bradley a considerable distance. He was so badly hurt that physicians said he might not recover. Ketchford was thrown down but escaped with his feet scorched and heat on the face with his coat before it could spread to the factory.

The factory building was shaken and the employees rushed to the street, but none was hurt.

LAST STEP IN REVISING THE TAX LAWS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—The last legislative step in revising the tax laws was to be taken by the Senate before tonight.

Debate on the tax bill was resumed early today under a unanimous consent agreement for a final vote at not later than 5 p. m. Immediately after the Senate acts the bill will be sent to the president and it will become a law when he signs it. None of the tax reductions provided for in the measure will be felt before next year, and the full force of many of them will not be felt in the taxpayers' pocketbook until 1923. By that year, it is estimated that the nation's tax bill will be cut $35,000,000, from the $3,400,000,000 estimated for this year.

The secession taxes and most of the so-called luxury taxes will go by the boards on Jan. 1. The excess profits tax also will be repealed as of that date, but the corporations making excess profits this year will pay that tax next year. The higher surtaxes also are repealed as of the Jan. 1, but the actual payments by the taxpayers in 1922, will be made, however, there will be some changes in the amounts of income taxes through the provisions of the bill, which take effect when the president signs the measure.

The only tax provisions of the bill, aside from administrative features, which are retroactive, are those granting additional exemptions to married men and to heads of families on account of dependents. These additional deductions can be made by the taxpayers in computing their taxes for this calendar year, and due in the next calendar year.

army, but it was recognized that important obstacles might lie in the way of so formal a pledge.

Before the meeting the French delegates let it be known that they would make no direct request for a precise declaration from the conference.

The land armament discussion overshadowed momentarily developments relating to the other questions before the arms conference although the naval experts continued their work on details of the American reduction plan and members of all nine delegations prepared additional data for use with the committee of the whole on the Far Eastern problem assembled again late in the day. It was indicated that the Far Eastern problem would develop an effort to include additional declarations of policy in the Root resolution already adopted.

Members of the French delegation described M. Briand today as satisfied personally with the sympathetic demonstration that followed his speech at Monday's plenary session.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(By the Associated Press.) The question of land armaments was again given a place on the arms conference program today for discussion at a meeting of the armament committee of the whole prior to the gathering of the full conference to resume its committee discussions of questions relating to China.

Premier Briand, of France, whose imminent departure is understood to have prompted the call for the armament committee meeting, was expected to add a last word as to his country's attitude on the question of reduction of armaments. That the conference might proceed to the point of a formal expression on the subject as relating to the present position of France was regarded by many as more than a possibility in view of the circumstances under which the meeting was called. M. Briand, it is known, would be pleased to return to France with a formal conference endorsement of the position he has taken against material reduction.

The Far Eastern committee of the conference was expected to develop further its course of procedure on Chinese questions.

The American advisory committee of 23 members, who are the important work in connection with the conference, met following a conference with Secretary Hughes yesterday in which he reported on the present status of the negotiations.

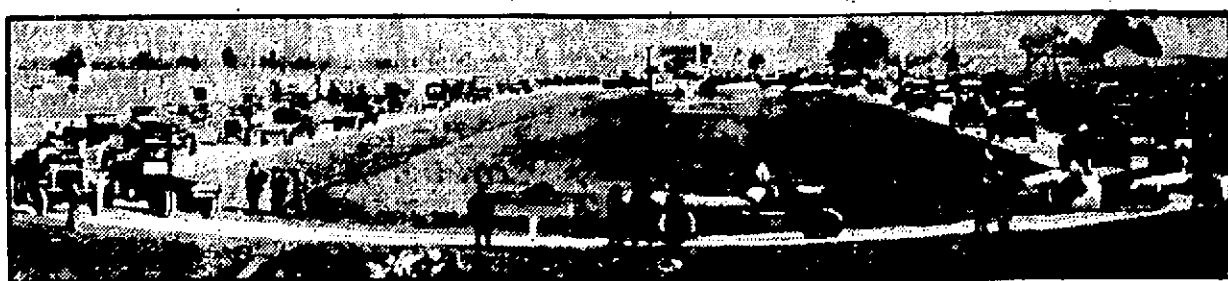

A number of sub-committees of the advisory body were instructed after the conference to prepare reports for the American government on various subjects of detail including one on the use and limitation of new weapons of warfare, a subject that has not yet been mentioned in the conference program.

GOVERNMENT ENGINEERS WATCH ROAD TEST

Government engineers and road experts are watching with interest an experiment now being conducted at Pittsburg, Cal., to determine the wearing quality of various types of road construction. The photo shows the beginning of the test, with 40 motor trucks circling the quarter mile track consisting of various types of surfacing. The experiment was initiated by the Columbia Steel company of Pittsburg, and is being participated in by auto organizations and dealers as well as state and federal agents. Devices located in tunnels under the surface indicate and record the exact strain and durability of the surfacing. The run will continue until the road is worn down.

ACCIDENT FINDINGS BY STATE REGISTRAR

(Special to The Sun)

STATES HOUSE, Boston, Nov. 23.—That there was serious fault on the part of the operator of the automobile which killed Fred Brooks of Lowell, on September 2, is the finding of Frank A. Goodwin, state registrar of motor vehicles, following a thorough investigation of the accident. The car was driven by Frank W. Gilman of Billerica road, Chelmsford, and his license to operate, suspended pending the investigation, has now been revoked. The reason for revocation, as given in Mr. Goodwin's order, is that he is "unable to find that the accident occurred without serious fault on the part of the operator."

In connection with the accident of September 2, which resulted in the death of William J. Quinn of Lowell, the registrar has made an opposite finding, and the chauffeur's license of Andrew C. Ferrell, suspended pending the investigation, has been reinstated and returned to him.

Other motorists who have recently come under the official scrutiny of the registrar, and the disposition of each case, are:

Peter F. Cassidy, Broad street, Billerica, operator's license and automobile registration certificate revoked. He was convicted in the Malden court November 1, on a charge of operating while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Daniel F. Pickering, Lowell, truck registration certificate revoked. The machine was found improperly equipped as to lights.

Henry E. Lavigne, 85 Chauncey avenue, Lowell, automobile registration certificate revoked. The machine was found improperly equipped as to lights.

James A. Cadworth, Jr., 73 Viola street, Lowell, operator's license suspended, pending investigation of the accident in which he was involved October 23, and which resulted in the death of Arthur Cashin of Lowell.

Austin H. Lally, 88 Elm street, Lowell, operator's license suspended. Convicted in Manchester, N. H., court September 3, on charge of operating while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, and was fined $50.

Daniel O'Neil, South street, Tewksbury, unlicensed, right to operate suspended, pending investigation of accident in which he was involved November 4, and which resulted in the death of Harold Greenough of Tewksbury.

Arthur S. Wilkinson, 6 Blanche street, Dracut, Centre, operator's license suspended. Obtained the license under false pretenses.

Alfred Maynard, 15 Franklin street, Nashua, N. H., unlicensed in this state forbidden to operate here. Convicted in Lowell court, October 23, on charge of operating so that the lives and safety of the public might be endangered.

PORTO RICANS ASK RE- MOVAL OF REILLY

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Senior Felix Cordova-Davila, resident commissioner from Porto Rico, was instructed in a cablegram received yesterday from San Juan to request President Harding to remove Gov. J. M. Reilly immediately from that office. The cablegram, comprising a document of 1000 words, set forth in detail the specific charges which were to be preferred with the request. It was signed by 39 of the 55 members of the Porto Rican assembly.

Senior Davila announced last night that he would see President Harding and Secretary Weeks—the latter as the immediate superior of Gov. Reilly—at "the earliest opportunity."

Declaring that Gov. Reilly had come to the island "with deep-rooted prejudices," the cablegram asserted that his actions since then had indicated he lacked "honesty and discretion" necessary for the position he now holds. On the "pretext that the president of the senate and members of the majority party were enemies of the United States," it continued, he embarked on "a policy of aggression against Porto Ricans not personally addicted to him."

ANGLER YANKED OFF BULKHEAD AND CARRIED OUT TO SEA BY FISH

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Bradley Sherman, 15 year old angler, was caught by a fish today at Coney Island. The fish, whose species could not be learned because it escaped with Sherman's tackle, yanked the young man off a bulkhead and started out to sea. Sherman was unconscious and nearly drowned when other fishermen rescued him and sent him to a hospital.

BOXING

While the interest in the two ten round bouts on tomorrow night's Moody club card is at fever heat, there is also considerable discussion relative to the preliminary number between Jimmy Owens, former lightweight champion of Ireland, and Young Rival, champion of the C.M.A.C. The pair are bitter rivals and have been training for several weeks in anticipation of the coming clash.

Burke and Castle fought here two weeks ago and the fact that their bout was one of the best of the season is sufficient reason to expect that their second meeting will be a good one. Castle is a splendid boxer, while Burke depends principally on his hitting ability. In the former meeting Castle dropped Burke with a blow to the jaw but in the fifth round Burke came back and staggered Castle with a fierce blow to the head. From then on it was a slashing battle with honors fairly even. Castle was given the decision, but Burke and his supporters felt disappointed. The two boxers have trained diligently and reports received at the club headquarters state both are in the pink of condition.

Jack Sharkey of New Bedford and the hard and straight hitting Steve Guistin of Boston are scheduled to perform in the other ten round number. Guistin made good here last season and fans are well acquainted with his ability. Sharkey performed here against Mickey Travers and was knocked out, but he feels confident that he can give Guistin a stiff argument. "If I don't make good this time, I don't want a dime," said Sharkey to Promoter Dodge.

Quibbott Jack and Jimmy Hughes are booked to fight in the second preliminary number.

TO DECIDE BILLIARD GREAT PRAISE FOR PULL-CHAMPIONSHIP ING FREAK PLAY

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—The world's 18.2 ball billiard championship will be decided tonight when "Young Jake" Schaefer, son of "Old Jake," who was almost invincible years ago, will try to repeat his victory of last night over Willie Hoppe, present titleholder, and for a decade looked on as unbeatable.

LEONARD OUTPOINTS SAILOR FRIEDMAN

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23.—Benny Leonard, lightweight boxing champion of the world, outpointed Sailor Friedman of Chicago in an eight-round no-decision bout last night. Both men entered the ring over the lightweight limit and the championship was not at stake.

The Chicagoan was game and took the offensive in many of the rounds, but Leonard, the better boxer, withstood his opponent's assault and found that he must make enough points to win a popular victory.

Friedman staggered the champion several times with hard punches to the head, but Leonard smiled and sawed three or more blows in return.

The champion did most of his fighting in the seventh and eighth rounds, and at one time appeared to have his opponent in a weakened condition. In the eighth round they met in the center of the ring and there carried on a struggle in which Leonard delivered the stronger punches.

After the fight, Friedman's manager, said after the bout, that Friedman felt he deserved to be given a chance at the title at the lightweight limit in the 15-round decision bout.

Friedman entered the ring at 130 and Leonard followed five minutes later.

Their weights were announced at ringside as follows: Friedman, 140 pounds; and the champion, 135 1/2 pounds.

Both being above the lightweight limit, the championship technically was not at stake.

FOOTBALL NOTES

An article appeared in last night's Sun stating that the Indiana Thirds defeated the Oakleaves Sunday afternoon on the South common by the score of 7 to 6. The team they really defeated was not the Oakleaves but the Alpines and only two Oakleaves players took part. According to a statement issued by the Oakleaves, the lineup was called up in the morning and asked to cancel the game, which he agreed to do. The Oakleaves still claim the championship.

It is understood that Adolph already has received six offers from major league clubs. However, the chance of his turning professional is very slim.

Billy Evans' Calls Warner Greatest Grid Magician

Where are the trick plays of the old days that used to give the football fans a thrill? Incidentally they offered food for conversation during the rest of the winter.

Glen Warner, now so successfully coaching the University of Pittsburgh, was the master magician of the old days. The football season was not complete unless Warner pulled some of his sleight of hand stuff in one of the big games.

The old time football fans recall without difficulty the year that Warner pulled the hidden ball trick against Harvard. One of the fast men in the Carlisle back field was equipped with a sweater having an elastic band around the bottom.

On the kick the Indians all massed together, as was customary in the old days, to form interference for the players carrying the ball. As the Carlisle players massed together, the Warner pulled the ball under the back of the sweater with the elastic band.

Warner later pulled another one that set the football world talking. In pulling several trick plays, Warner pulled the ball under the back of the sweater with the elastic band.

On The Other Hand

BY ROY GROVE
TODAY'S SHORT STORY

Once upon a time there was a vera, vera devoted hunter who scoured the hills and plains to fetch a rabbit—to demonstrate his prowess to his wife and likewise enjoy the writhing envy of his fellow men. He tramped for many rods and wearily turned homeward. His iron, unshot, the leads intact unto their casings—unrabitted.

Heavily he dragged his steps to his kitchen and sank leadenly on the sofa, disgraced and humbled. At length his wife did query as to his whereabouts and he spoke, and voiced the truth, "A-rabbiting."

"Why, Emmet," she gasped—just like that—"Why, Emmet, why didn't you tell me you were going to hunt for rabbit. It was only five minutes ago that I kicked one off'n the back porch."

BOSTON, Nov. 23.—Charles Moran will be football coach at Centre college for at least one more year. J. C. Caldwell, head of the Centre college Athletic association, sent word here to Col. Howard G. Reynolds, it was learned today, that Moran had signed a contract to continue next season. He had previously announced that he would resign at the close of this year's football campaign, and it had been suggested that he might be succeeded by "Doc" McMillin, Centre's sensational quarterback and former captain. McMillin now has under consideration an offer to become coach at Howard college in Birmingham, Ala.

It was also announced that Claude Thorp will remain for another year as Centre's line coach.

Adventures of the Twins

THE MAGICAL MUSHROOM

"OH, YOU DEAR OLD MAGICAL MUSHROOM!" CRIED NANCY.

Nancy and Nick put on their sweat-ers and tams and ran down to their favorite play ground under the old chestnut tree in the meadow. The tree had been busy all summer and autumn in its own quiet way, although, after its lovely, feathery, golden blossoms had disappeared in July, no one had noticed much what it was doing. But now they were out, the twins were, for suddenly Dick stooped and picked up a round, greeny-yellow, prickly thing cracked open at one end, and looking awfully like a secret in- side like dark brown, satiny, de- licious secret, and one evidently that Nick knew about, for he gave a whoop of delight. "Oh, look, Nancy!" he cried. "Just look! It's the first chestnut-burr! Let's open it and get the nuts!"

He carried it over to the big gray stone you already know about, chil- dren, and if you don't tell me that that was where the twins' adven- tures first began, and where another one was about to begin, although, of course, that's a secret that I couldn't mention, perhaps, for Nancy and Nick never so much as suspected what was in store for them.

Nancy ran for a little stone to ham- mer with and Nick laid his prize on a nice flat place, handling it very carefully, you may be sure, for chest- nut-burrs are almighty things.

Suddenly out of the autumn still- ness came a sound they knew well, a voice. "Good morning, my dears," it said. "I am Jack Frost has done something useful at last. He's helping the nut-trees to unload their crops."

"Oh, you dear old Magical Mush- room!" cried Nancy. "Where are you? Oh, there you are! I see you now! We're so glad to see you, aren't we Nick? Where have you been? You'll have to tell us all about yourself."

"I was with Nancy rattling on so, could Mr. Mushroom tell them about the Fairy Queen and Pin Pin?" (To Be Continued)

HELIGOLAND SOON TO BE DEMOLISHED

LONDON, Nov. 23.—The great Ger- man fortress of Heligoland probably will be completely demolished by next April. Its demolition has been in progress for two years under the su- pervision of an international commission headed by Admiral Sir Edward Char- ton, who is said to be satisfied that the island fortress can never again be a menace to the allies.

When the work of destruction is com- plete, it will be inspected by the com- mission and then the island is to be handed back to Germany, under the provisions of the peace treaty.

The commission has taken nothing for granted, but naval officers have watched the great guns being put into pieces and have demanded that the scrap metal be produced when the Germans reported that they had destroyed castles, guns, forts, etc. Besides they have personally watched the burning of vast stores of explo- sives. It is understood that Admiral Charlon is satisfied that very little in the way of warlike stores can have been concealed by the Germans.

To make certain that Heligoland can not again be utilized as a site upon which to build a harbor for warships, the commission has placed blocks of stone and concrete about the bed of the harbor so that dredging will not be possible. Eventually it is believed the harbor will be destroyed by the sea.

"Dipsepsin" for Bad Stomach, Indigestion

Take "Dipsepsin" now! In five minutes your stomach feels fine. Don't bother what upset your stomach, or which portion of the food did the damage. If your stomach is sour, gas- sy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps, head aches, you belch gases and acids, and eructate undigested food—just take a little Dipsepsin and in five minutes you wonder what be- came of the indigestion and distress. Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stom- ach. A little Dipsepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regular and they eat their favorite foods with- out fear. If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal lunch without re- bellion, if your food is a damage to a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless antacid is Dipsepsin, which costs only 60 cents for a large case at drug stores.—Adv.

THIN, FLAT HAIR GROWS LONG, THICK AND ABUNDANT

"Danderine" costs only 15 cents a bottle. One application ends all dandruff, stops itching and falling hair, and in a few moments, you have doubled the beauty of your hair. It will appear a mass, so soft, lustrous, and easy to do up. But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp. Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. This delightful stimulative tonic helps thin, fallen, faded hair to grow long, thick, heavy and luxuriant.—Adv.

MILITARY EFFECT IN SERGE

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The high military collar, with buttons reaching from beneath the ears in diverging lines to the under-sleeve line, adds an original touch to a Paul Poiret day costume of blue serge.

A basque effect is accentuated by rows of loose leather fringe, the same trimming finishing the unique sleeves which start from the collar and end in the bell-shaped cuff.

The skirt is full and round. With this costume Poiret has de- signed a novel hat of steel velvet embroidered in silver nailheads. The hat is rather larger than the usual sun of chapeaux on which nailheads are used and the effect is somewhat like an impenetrable fortress door.

However, the steel tints are most artistic and becoming to a youthful countenance.

LICENSE COMMISSION

The following per- mits were granted: Express, Eugene Poiret, 203 Lakeview avenue; to sell ice cream on the Lord's day, Yvonne Chenelle, 146 Condit street; common victualler, Emma E. Trombly, 655 Merrimack street; coffee house, The- odore Eleftherian, 172 Market street and John Zaraboukas, 114 Market street.

Psycho-Analysts to Create Plays to Fit Movie Stars

BACK TO THE FARM

Ten thousand "back to the farm" converts have been made as the result of a western livestock show held recently in San Francisco. One of the important functions of the exposition was to give school children a liberal education in the health, wealth and happiness possibilities that lie in getting away from the city and into the country. Thousands "signed the pledge." In the photo Lavina Eckles, aged 11, is showing how simple it is to strike up a flirtation with a $10,000 prize bull.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

By Theatrical Press Agents

H. P. KEITH'S THEATRE

"Alice in Wonderland," a very clever musical travesty on some of the plays that are now current, is admirably presented at the H. P. Keith theatre, this week, by Florence Ames and Adelaide Wintrop. It is consistently of high grade, played in the true travesty manner. There are many most interesting details in it, which will bear watching. The Elm City Four, for two years at the New York Hippodrome, are making numbers of special ability, and with a repertoire that is nothing if not full of pep. Then there is "The Wife Saver," played very fast by H. B. Toomer & Co. It will give a lot of laughing pleasure. Joe Towle, with his reminiscences of France and some other things, is one of the top talents. Others on the bill are Gertrude Morgan, singer; Max York's canines, and Dell & Gliss, musical crows.

OPERA HOUSE

If you are desirous of enjoying two hours of genuine pleasure then don't miss this week's presentation, by the Lowell Players, of George M. Cohan's big musical play, "45 Minutes From Broadway." The cast is a large one including several members of the Lowell High School Glee club, and every one engaged is making a big hit. The musical numbers, particularly the genuine successes, while the comedy features are very cleverly handled. Cautious audiences testify to its popularity. Thursday's matinee performance will start at 2:15 o'clock instead of the usual hour of 2:15. Next week's

"Tanlac has certainly been a fast worker in my case," said Irving F. Albert, of 500 Canal St., Rochester, N. Y., manager of the grocery department at the H. G. Cram market, in relating his experience with the medicine, recently.

"Six weeks ago I got out of the hospital where for two weeks I had a close call, being operated on for laparitis and complications. I had lost 35 pounds and was so thin and weak I could hardly stand up. My appetite was completely gone, and my stomach was so upset that I could neither eat nor enjoy any kind of food. The big question with me was how to get my strength back, but the various things I took didn't help me any, and I was standing still and making no progress. I was in terrible condition, and I was told I would be two or three months before I should work any at all.

"However, I struck upon the right thing when I began taking Tanlac. I commenced mending from the very start and in three weeks time gained back 14 pounds of my lost weight and was reporting for business again. I have my old time appetite and my food agrees with me perfectly. I used to suffer from nervousness and constipation, too, but they have entirely gone now, and I don't wake up any during the night. I am certainly climbing at a rapid rate, and am only too glad to let others know what a great medicine Tanlac is.

Blood—Sold in Liquid or

Tablet Form

When a woman overworks, either mentally or physically, there is a strain on the vitality. Getting up in the morning she feels low in spirits. Her eyes are dull, her complexion is sallow or pasty.

A few bottles of Gude's Pepto-Mangan taken in regular doses is what will build up her blood.

The reason for this is known. It is simply that Gude's Pepto-Mangan makes blood rich and red. It has the things in it that make new blood and drive out the poison in the system. New blood makes new vigor and gradually the depressed feelings vanish, the natural healthy glow comes back to the skin and there is pleasure in living.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan is sold at drug stores in liquid or tablet form. The full name, "Gude's Pepto-Mangan," is on each package.—Adv.

production will be the stirring melodrama, "Why Girls Leave Home." Munster Schaeke has succeeded in getting the Shanon O'Farrell company of New York to report in his illustrated history of the Irish rebellion, showing the burning of Cork, and many exciting scenes leading up to the time in Ireland. Irish music is also a feature. This will be next Sunday afternoon and evening.

MERRIMACK SQ. THEATRE
The unusual spectacle of tears in the eyes of screen artists while they played the part of the Irish rebels, at a New York theatre some time ago, at a performance of the William Fox production, "Over the Hill," the sensational New York screen success, which comes to the Merrimack Square theatre for the entire week starting Sunday, Nov. 27.

It happened that Mrs. Carr, who plays the mother in the picture, which was made from Will Carleton's well known poem—too her four children (who also appear as the children in the picture) to see how they would like "out front." The Carr children laughed gleefully at all the funny scenes in the picture but when the little mother is in adverse circumstances and is rescued from a life of toil and poverty by her "black sheep" son, it was noticed that all four of them were crying.

Stephen Carr, one of the boys, was the first to regain his composure. He turned to his little sister Rosemary, who sat beside him asking, "What in the world are you crying about?" Rosemary dabbed her eyes with a handkerchief before she replied: "Because Mama is just as sweet in the picture as she is at home."

THE STRAND
The last chance today of seeing one of the best northwest stories ever filmed, "The Call of the North," and you will see one of the most artistic and gripping stories of the Northwest of the season. The scenic effects are truly wonderful, while the work of the engaged cast couldn't be improved upon. Shirley Mason in "Love Time" is another good film story.

Beginning tomorrow and continuing the remainder of the week the program will have May Allison in "Big Game" and Gladys Walton in "The Rowdy." Both of these pictures are unusual photoplays and have every element that goes in the making of enjoyable film offerings. Besides there will be the usual comedy, "The Kinky," and "The Little Queen," a charming piece of entertainment, featuring pretty Constance Binney.

After tonight is the most part a story of life in the underworld, with occasional glimpses at high social life. Tearle portrays the parts of twin brothers, one a man of wealth whose morals and habits have sunk him almost to the lowest depths, and the other an aimless wanderer who has never forgotten the justice done him years before by his brother, who cheated him out of his share of their dead father's fortune.

IRISH CONCERT
Because of the general demand for the return of the Irish artists who appeared at the Opera House last Sunday afternoon, owner Schaeke has arranged for their return to the theatre for their services for next Sunday again, in an entirely new program of Irish music and pictures. Shaun O'Farrell, the Irish crooner, will sing "The Irish Volunteer," "The Auld Song," and "The Little Bridge Flynn." While Miss Kitty O'Sullivan, John O'Connell, the Irish pianist, and Mrs. Nora O'Rourke will also sing. The pictures will be all new and will be shown for the first time in America. They were recently brought to this country and show conditions of recent events in the Emerald Isle.

RIALTO THEATRE
Marshall Neilan's latest production "Bits of Life" drawn together from four different angles, is making its debut at the Rialto theatre today and if you miss it you will be sorry. The other attractions are equally good and show William Fairbanks, "The Kinky," a comedy, and the Kinko-grams. Beginning tomorrow the Rialto will have a return engagement of Charles Chaplin and Young Jackie Coogan in "The Kid." Don't fail to see it.

DANCE AND WHIST

The 11th annual dance and whist of Lowell council, 13, Knights of L'Epee, a national organization for the deaf, will take place in Merrimack hall this evening. An elaborate program has been prepared and valuable prizes will be awarded to winners in whist and various games to be played. Dancing will follow the whist and entertainment.

PSYCHOLOGISTS HAVE PEERED INTO THE HEAD AND HEART OF MARION AVE TO DETERMINE HER EMOTIONAL REACTIONS. PHOTOPLAYS ARE BEING PREPARED TO SUIT HER TEMPERAMENT AS DISCLOSED BY THESE EXPERIMENTS.

BY JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Psychologists are now being employed in the movies. Through it comes to be created to fit the temperament of players. At least, that is the promise made by Victor Hugo Halperin, author, psychologist and literary associate of the late Elbert Hubbard.

Halperin has just concluded a psychological test of Marion Ave and has set about to write a series of starring vehicles for her based on the findings of his experiment. Halperin in a series of experiments observed Miss Ave's reaction to tests of the creative, love, ego, intuitive, emotional, applicative and expressive attributes.

"It is far more important to know the inward characteristics of the actor than the outward," Halperin says. "Give me a psycho-analytical chart of an actor and I will create for him a role that will suit his play and develop every ounce of talent in him. That is because it will be a natural role, one exactly suited to his temperament and he will be happy doing it."

"We do our best work when we set our 'glad' ganglia going. Strips in the past have often accepted parts which promised to bring out their histrionic abilities to the best advantage. Yet they proved failures in these roles because neither they nor their directors knew that temperamentally and physically they were unfit for the characterizations."

"Straps photograph. Thoughts photograph. The time is coming when every casting director will have along with his file of faces a file of psychological data, similar, perhaps, to that prepared for Miss Ave. Then each player will be perfectly cast."

APPLYING THE THEORY
The idea of ascertaining the mental and temperamental qualifications of a screen player in order to place them in roles that it seems to be one of merit.

It might just as well be applied to scenario writers and directors. Then the scheme might be perfect.

What of a director who is temperamentally unfit to direct players of certain type? What of the writer, who knowing the qualifications of a player, is temperamentally un-equipped to write a suitable story to grasp the needs of that player's temperament?

The story and the direction are as important in the evolution of a motion picture as the acting.

TAKE YEAST THE BEST WAY—WITH IRON

If Weak, Thin or Run-Down Take Ironized Yeast, the Great New Vitamine Tonic Treatment in Tablet Form

At last the perfect yeast combination has been discovered!

No longer will be necessary for people to put up with all the objectionable features of eating ordinary baking yeast for health. For yeast may now be taken in convenient tablet form, combined with iron, which is necessary in order to get the best benefit from yeast.

This preparation is called Ironized Yeast, and is the approved vitamine tonic treatment for run-down condition, loss of weight, nervousness, lack of energy, poor appetite, skin eruptions and other run-down symptoms.

The reason Ironized Yeast is bringing such splendid results everywhere is because it contains highly concentrated brewer's yeast, which is richer in vitamins than ordinary baking yeast. Vitamins, as we know, are one of the most essential of all food elements—yet our modern diet is almost entirely lacking in them.

If you are weak, pale, sickly—if you are nervous, irritable, and can't sleep nights—if your vitality is low and you are getting old before your time—then try this remarkable new tonic. You will notice a good improvement in your condition even after the first few days' use. Pimples, boils and other skin blemishes usually disappear entirely within two weeks. Everywhere people are saying that Ironized Yeast is just the tonic they needed.

Ironized Yeast will keep indefinitely and costs no more per dose than common yeast. Each package contains 16 days' treatment and costs only $1.00 or just 19c a day. Special directions for children in each package. Sold at all druggists. Made by the Ironized Yeast Company, Atlanta, Ga.—Adv.

FAVORS PARDON FOR DR. ATWOOD

BOSTON, Nov. 23.—The pardon committee of the governor's council at the close of a hearing yesterday on application for a pardon for Dr. E. H. Atwood, confessed slayer of Dr. W. E. Harris of Boston, announced it would report to the full council today. Dr. Atwood was sentenced in 1917 to life imprisonment.

The petition for pardon had the support of the entire advisory board of pardons and was submitted as "in keeping with the spirit of Thanksgiving." Dr. Atwood in confessing that he killed Dr. Harris said it was to defend a woman's honor. This was after it had been alleged that Dr. Harris had had improper relations with Dr. Celia Adams of Brockton, who committed suicide shortly before the murder.

IRISH PRISONERS ESCAPE BY TUNNEL
DUBLIN, Nov. 23.—It is reported that a number of political prisoners, the majority of whom are supposed to have been transferred from Spike Island near Cork last Friday night, have escaped from the Kilkenny Jail by tunnelling. It is said that 47 of the men got away.

A despatch from Cork last Saturday said that 100 Irish republic sympathizers, the last of the interned men at Spike Island were moved from the island Friday night and taken to the former convict settlement of Mayborough.

NORTH CHELMSFORD NEWS
Miss May McCluskey, of North Chelmsford, was agreeably surprised when her friends assembled in the St. John's temperance hall to shower her in honor of her coming marriage on Tuesday night. The bride-elect was the recipient of many gifts which included a dinner set from the St. John's ladies' auxiliary, a society of which Miss McCluskey is a member. The presentation in behalf of the auxiliary was made by Miss Loretta McCluskey, president of the society. She also received various other gifts including linen, cut glass, aluminum, china, beautiful pieces of hand made linens, and a variety of pretty pictures. The hall was decorated in harmony with the occasion and entertainment of a very pleasing nature was furnished which included several songs by Mr. Reeves. Much hilarity and merriment was evidenced during the performance of a mock marriage which was participated in by Miss Gertrude Welch, Miss Sidney Ferguson, and Mrs. A. Beaudreau. Dancing was then in full swing to tickle the music which was furnished by Miss May Robinson of Lowell and Mrs. Richard M. Moly. During the course of the evening appetizing refreshments were served. The party broke up at a late hour amidst great merriment and with the promise of every happiness and success in her future life to which she responded in a graceful manner. Because of the success of the affair Miss Josephine McEnany assisted by Miss Anna Cummings, Miss Gertrude Welch and Mrs. Henry O. Miner felt repaid for their untiring efforts in planning the occasion.

WED PRINCESS MARY

LONDON, Nov. 23.—(By A.P.)—The betrothal of Princess Mary, only daughter of King George and Queen Mary, to Viscount Lascelles was announced last night.

King George at a council meeting in Buckingham palace yesterday had previously announced that he had given his consent to the marriage.

Premier Lloyd George, archbishop of Canterbury, Viscount St. Albans and the cabinet ministers, were present at the council meeting, after which the premier had an audience with the king. Later Viscount Lascelles dined with the king and queen and his fiancée.

The engagement of Princess Mary, which has been awaited by the British public with considerable interest and curiosity, is another break in royal tradition which is likely to be extremely popular with the king's subjects.

There are precedents, however, for going outside royal houses for partners—for instance, the marriage of Queen Victoria's daughter Louise to the Earl of Fife.

Princess Mary is only a little less endeared to the hearts of the people than her brother, the Prince of Wales.

WHY A 100-YEAR-OLD WOMAN IS THANKFUL

MRS. EMILY LABERTEAUX DRAKE

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 23.—What should a 100-year-old woman give thanks for on Thanksgiving day? Why, for being alive, of course. But, more than that, for having lived through a whole century and having seen the world develop in the most wonderful century of its history, says Mrs. Emily Laberteaux Drake, who's "going on 101."

When Mrs. Drake was born in 1821—Everybody traveled on horseback or in horse-drawn vehicles. All of North America except the Atlantic seaboard was a howling wilderness. Napoleon was still living and Europe was just getting on its feet again after the war into which he plunged the continent. The United States was about as im-

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Tonight

Before I go I have something to say.

Not long ago, when I was selected to come to Washington for a session with President Harding, I made arrangements to write my story after seeing him. But I don't believe that I'm going to be in a position to talk then. That's why I'm doing it now.

profit by it. But I live simply, avoiding excesses and thinking little about the rules of health, and I have not spent one day in bed in more than 40 years. Not everyone can have as good health as I have, but a great many more people could have it than now do have it.

That I have a home and family. We began very simply. Our house cost not quite four hundred dollars and the lot four hundred and the other improvements about two hundred more, and our furniture less than two hundred. One thousand dollars would have paid the bills and did. And the house was mortgaged—for I did not have a thousand dollars. But if you call that poverty, you do not know the meaning of the word. I am and always have been a rich man.

That I have a job. I have never been out of work, and I do not think that I shall ever be out of work. I work long hours, and I work seven days a week, and I go to bed very late. But it is good work, and I am glad that I have it to do.

That I have faith and hope. I am not unconscious of the ominous signs of the age in which we live, and I believe that God is good and life is good and that the average man is good.

O. M. I. CADETS TO PLAY BUTLERS

Thanksgiving afternoon the O.M.I. Cadets and the Butler A.A. will clash on the North common to decide the championship of the city at their weight. The former have one of the best semi-pro records of any team in this section, losing only one game all season, while the latter have comparatively the same. The game will be played for a purse of $200. Dr. Matt Mahoney will officiate.

The Indian Third football team will hold practice tonight and tomorrow morning at Skeleton square. It is important that all players be there.

ABOUT THIS TIME O' YEAR

Berton Braley's Daily Poem The GREAT QUESTION

All of the questions that commonly worry us—
Questions of Capital, Labor and such,
Questions of business that oftentimes flurry us—
They are forgotten, today, pretty much;
There's but one question we freely reiterate
(Waiting for food that we plan to obliterate),
"When do we eat?"

Smells from the kitchen are witching and savory,
Odors of turkey and dressing and pies;
What if our stomachs do hold us in slavery,
It is a bondage we joyfully prize;
Off for today is all hanting and dieting,
We shall gorge grandly until we're replete,
Meanwhile we cry, as our hunger grows rioting,
"When do we eat?"

Thankful are we for the blessings that come to us,
Thankful for freedom and thankful for peace;
This is the day when the Fates can't be glum to us,
This is the time when our troubles decrease;
So all our faces are wearing a grin on them
(Boy, but the smell of the cooking is sweet!),
Bring on your viands and let us start in on them,
"When do we eat?"

THE WORLD'S MOST THANKFUL MOTHER

MRS. LORETTA CADIE

AND HER SON HOWARD.

(By N.E.A. Service)

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 23.—The happiest and most thankful mother in the whole world on Thanksgiving day will be Mrs. Loretta Cadie.

Why? Because her son, Howard, seven years ago a "down and outer,"

today is a respectable citizen and, more than that, a benefactor of mankind.

In 1914 E. Howard Cadie, Mrs. Cadie's son—

Was in the thirtieth year of a life of gambling and drinking.

Was known to the sporting fraternity of the country as the "slot-machine" king.

Had found that dissipation didn't pay, for his easily-kotten gains had been lost, leaving him penniless.

Was wrecked in health and had been told by his physician that he had but six months to live.

So Cadie went home to die.

But instead of dying, he prospered honestly and today—

He's a wealthy man, the owner of a string of 14 shoe repair shops, scattered through the country.

He's planning to increase his chain to 300 shops.

He has founded a $375,000 tabernacle at Indianapolis and another at Louisville, Ky., for religious worship and for worthy civic gatherings.

He has pledged himself to found a new tabernacle for every 10 repair shops he starts. All of them will be dedicated in memory of his mother.

Mrs. Cadie devoutly believes that all this is the result of her prayers for her son's regeneration.

Where will Mrs. Cadie spend Thanksgiving?

In the tabernacle her son has established here, giving thanks before the altar for the answering of her prayers.

The Lowell presentation, among them Mrs. Benjamin Thompson of Lynn and Miss Elizabeth Boody of Cambridge.

PLAY IS POSTPONED

Date of Harvard-Radcliffe

Play is Changed to December 5th

The Harvard Dramatic club production for the benefit of the Radcliffe Endowment fund which was scheduled originally to take place at the Colonial theatre, December 3, has been changed to a different place and date. The production is now definitely arranged for Monday evening, December 5, at the Lowell Opera house. The change was made necessary owing to the large scale in which the two plays must be presented. The Colonial theatre, otherwise highly satisfactory, has a stage too small for the large sets required for the plays, particularly for the Argentine set, which is out of doors scenery. Much credit should be given Mr. Bowers for his great interest and willingness to co-operate. The scenery has been painted especially for these plays, and the club will bring its own properties and costumes. Fortunately, the club has ample funds which makes it possible to give everything out with meticulous attention to artistic detail regardless of expense.

There are to be several presentations of the play in Cambridge, Boston, Lynn and at Wellesley. A number of persons prominent in North Shore society have planned to be present at

FREEDOM OF NEW YORK

Now Freely Given to Visitors

Formerly Had to be Purchased With Beaver Skins

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—"To one freedom of the city—Six beaver skins."

Entries like this would have dotted the festive side of the expense accounts of Poch, Diaz, Beatty, Jacques and others of the brilliant procession of old world figures drawn to America in the wake of the world war, had they come about three centuries earlier.

And instead of riding at the head of triumphal processions to the city halls of various municipalities, there to receive the freedom of the city at the hands of respectful mayors, to the accompaniment of bands and cheering throngs, they would have had to file petitions in court for their freedom and take oaths not to offend against the laws of the land.

Conferring of the freedom of a city on a visitor has come to mean almost precisely the opposite of what it meant in the young days of America—and earlier—in the medieval days in Merrie England.

"The origin of the custom of granting the freedom of the city to aliens is virtually lost in antiquity," said Prof. Harold Melban, instructor in municipal government at Columbia university, commenting on the round of brilliant receptions that have kept the mayors of New York and other cities almost constantly in tall hats and frock coats in recent months.

"It appears, however, to have grown directly out of the medieval organization of industry on a monopolistic basis, and was originally an economic measure, pure and simple.

"In the old English borough it amounted to a license to carry on business and, later, to vote. Without the status of a free man, conferred by the grant, a man could not rise above the class of employee.

"The early Dutch settlers of New Amsterdam—now New York—set up a similar status, called the burgher right. In 1618, as a protection against Scotch merchants and petty traders who spoil trade and business by underselling," persons not holding the burgher right were prohibited from conducting business either with Christians or heathen. The fee was six beaver skins.

"Freedom of the city was provided for in the Dongan charter of 1686—the first English charter of New York city, and its dispensation was entrusted to the mayor or any three or more of the aldermen. The fee by this time was reckoned in British pounds (instead of beaver skins)—3 pounds, 12 shillings for the shopkeeper class and 1 pound, 4 shillings for handicraftsmen.

"Persons receiving the grant were required to take the oath, 'Obeyant and obedient shall ye be to the mayor and ministers of this city,' and swore to take turns at the watch, pay their taxes, and warn the mayor of 'any gatherings, conventicles or conspiracies made against the king's peace'.

"It was in the latter part of the 18th century that the practice of bestowing gratuitous, honorary freedoms of the city appeared.

"Early New York records recite the

GREAT OIL FIELDS MAY CEASE PRODUCTION

BAKU, Azerbaijan, Nov. 23. (By a staff correspondent of the Associated Press).—Within six months the oil fields, lying within a few miles of this city and once counted among the richest petroleum wells in the world, will have ceased to produce, according to expert opinion, unless new machinery and better and more workmen are obtained.

This condition is acutely realized by the local Azerbaijan government which is controlled by Moscow. If the oil is not forthcoming, this will mean the stopping of the oil-burning steamers of the Caspian sea, several hundred in number, the 1000 or more tugboats and steamers of the Volga still in repair and the oil-burning locomotives of the entire railway system of greater Russia.

Efforts are being made to obtain machinery, possibly from the United States, by M. Serabrovsky, a trained engineer and now general director of the oil fields, and also to induce workmen to work.

The pre-war production averaged annually about 18,000,000 pounds of crude petroleum and this year it will run about 5,000,000,000 at best. There have been but a few new wells this year and the old ones function slowly. The opening up of the pipe line to Baku for foreign export is one of the questions, as there is not enough oil and Russia consumes much of the present supply, herself.

The general cause given for this condition is described by competent oil engineers, long on the field, as the "gangrene" of soviet control. "Whatever the communists touch seems to go to rot," declared one engineer. "It seems like a fatality and the worst of it is that no amount of new machinery here will remedy the situation. New machinery would be broken up by incompetent, underfed workmen just as the old machinery has been."

This is a rather gloomy view taken by an anti-Bolshevik. The oil fields began to slow down four years ago. This present Moscow rule has severely suffered from the sins of its predecessors here.

It is feared there will be much difficulty in buying new machinery this winter, though the Azerbaijan government has a commercial mission at Constantinople that may go to the United States to get capital or credits for the machinery.

The labor situation is much more clear. Russia is deprived of her best thinkers, imperialists and communists, and likewise of her trained workers. In the oil fields where are needed 50,000 men, there are now possibly half that number and few of them trained and employers say even these are disinclined to work.

Before the war there were 125 private companies here, each with a managing director, and now the work of all these directors falls on the shoulders of a few men. The workmen get one and a half pounds of black bread per day and soup, with neither butter nor meat and a pay of 3000 rubles (five to 10 cents) per month, which is just the price of a pound of bread.

New workmen are being brought in from among the troops of Gen. Wrangel in Constantinople and also from the famine zones, but with it all there seems no way to keep the men satisfied, or properly fed.

"Black Town," as is called the oil refining and delivery district, presents a sad sight as compared to the old days. The buildings of the Nobel refinery, the most important of the companies represented, are going to ruin. Makhovits is the rule everywhere.

When the Moscow soviet took over the Azerbaijan republic a year and a half ago by buying up its officials and sending in the 11th red army, it expected to get oil for nothing.

TUCK ART COLLECTION

GIVEN TO PARIS

PARIS, Nov. 23.—The deed of gift by which the City of Paris becomes possessor of the art collections of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Tuck, with 1,000,000 francs for their installation in the Petit Palais, Champs Elysees, has just been signed. Mr. Tuck is an American philanthropist who has long lived in Paris.

These collections include tapestries, tapestried furniture, furniture, pictures, china, Sevres and Saxony porcelain, Battersea enamels, watches and several articles connected with Benjamin Franklin.

Of the tapestries, the principal piece is "Psyche led by Zephyr into the Palace of Love" and "Psyche showing her riches to her sisters," manufactured at Beauvais, after designs by Boucher and formerly in possession of the Dukes of Marlborough at Blenheim.

Among the furniture is a sedan chair, of unusual model, painted by Jean Bérain, which was made for Madame de Chartres, niece of Louis XIV.

The pictures include some rare primitives, "La Belle Jardiniere" by Boucher and two Fragonards.

Benjamin Franklin is represented by his portrait by Greuze, another portrait attributed to Duplessis, a plaster statuette by Caffieri, probably a model made by the king's order for copying by the Sevres porcelain manufactory, a terra-cotta bust by Houdon (1778), a portrait in wax by Madame Tussaud, and several terra-cotta medallions by J. B. Nini.

Edward Tuck is a retired banker, born in Exeter, N. H., 1842, who graduated at Dartmouth in 1862, where later he founded the Tuck school by a donation of $400,000. He was United States vice consul at Paris 1886-66. He built the American hospital in Paris and with his wife, Julia Stell, has been a great benefactor to the town of Reull, close by which he lives and to which he has given a hospital and public park.

He has made many gifts to Maimon, former residence of Napoleon, which is just outside the gates of Paris. Tuck's country house, among them, the iron bed on which Napoleon died and a rose garden containing all the kinds of roses that Josephine once grew there.

Justice Indicted for Alleged "Conspiracy to Obstruct Justice"

BOSTON, Nov. 22.—A petition to have the legislature ask Governor Cox to remove Edward P. Pierce from the supreme court bench was filed with Speaker Young of the house today. It was presented by Representative Loring P. Jordan of Wakefield. Judge Pierce is under indictment by the Suffolk county grand jury for alleged "conspiracy to obstruct the administration of justice." The indictment was returned secretly a week ago, together with one against W. Edwin Usher, an attorney after an inquiry into cases in which the latter was interested.

The petition, upon which no action can be taken until the legislature convenes, has secured gifts and gratuities from persons interested in cases that he has interested himself improperly in and has conspired with other persons in matters in litigation pertaining to the Waban Rose Conservatory and the Henry Woods Sons Co. It is signed by Representative Jordan and by George M. Poland, who are law partners. Their firm is acting as counsel for the companies mentioned.

LOWE TAKEN OFF LINER LOCAL ROTARIANS HEAR PRISON CHAPLAIN

Man Who Escaped From Rutland Prison and Fleed to England Arrested on Return

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Charged with being an escaped prisoner from a Massachusetts penitentiary, Edmund E. Lowe of Boston was arrested today on his arrival on the steamship Cedric from Liverpool.

Lowe, according to the police, is under sentence of from two to five years for robbery. He escaped last January while being transferred from the Rutland (Mass.) prison camp and eventually was located in England, where he was serving a six months' term for burglary. On expiration of his sentence, the British authorities ordered him deported.

BOSTON, Nov. 22.—Edmund F. Lowe, arrested in New York today, on his arrival from England, was one of three men convicted of holding up and robbing an aged man in the Charlestown district, about three years ago. He was sent to state prison for a term of three to five years and later was transferred to the prison camp at Rutland. He had been at the camp about a year when he escaped last January. Lowe was about 25 years of age and lived in Somerville.

Harold Stearns of Roxbury, Mass., a dentist formerly attached to the American army of occupation in Germany, also was a British deportee on the ship. Stearns said he was deported for failure to register as an alien. Representatives of the department of justice took Stearns to headquarters to question him.

Joannes Gennadius, as an unofficial observer for the Greek government at the limitation of armaments conference, was among the ship's passengers.

SPRINGFIELD, Nov. 22.—Announcement was made today by the Chapman Valve Mfg. Co. that its plant would resume full time Monday with practically a full working force of between 700 and 800 hands.

LOCAL ROTARIANS HEAR PRISON CHAPLAIN

Discharged from the state prison at Charlestown not long ago, four men who had served long terms for serious offenses, walked into the office of Warden Elmer R. Shattuck and said: "We have received a fine education from the state of Massachusetts and we are going to make good." And they are keeping their word.

Lowell Rotarians at their weekly club dinner at the Boys' yesterday afternoon applauded this statement made by Chaplain V. Bradley Whitney of the state prison, a religious work who came to Lowell in place of Warden Shattuck, the latter being unable to keep his engagement. The chaplain gave many intimate details of prison work among unfortunate inmates behind the walls of the old prison that was erected in the year 1835.

The Rotarians had numerous guests today. Among the features of the after-dinner business session was an address by William A. Mitchell, agent of the Massachusetts cotton mills, who praised the officers of the club for providing the boys club members with a fine Pathoscope moving picture machine and large screen for entertaining the men who are educating themselves. The money came from the U. S. Marine band concert, and the Rotarians expended about $100 for the youngsters, all told. Mr. Mitchell asked the members to continue their interest in the young men of the city. He had a good word to say for energetic and hard working Major Walter H. Jeyes, who received an ovation from the youngsters.

Thomas H. Marshall is the only former vice president alive.

do not come back. We are treating subnormal men, hospital cases and degenerates there in one institution. I think the state ought to separate normal prisoners from the defectives." He praised the Welfare League work and the probationary system. He announced that it is costing the state more than $10,000,000 a year to maintain prison institutions. More than 180,000 persons were arrested in this state last year.

The Charlestown prison is the second oldest in the country, the oldest being located at Richmond, Va. The chaplain, pastor of the Shattuck as a man with "a huge heart, broad-minded and one who is improving old conditions at the prison in a wonderful manner."

There are now 559 men behind the walls. Not so long ago, the number reached 200.

"He is the real shot in the locker at Charlestown," said the chaplain. "And he was here to come to Lowell for the girl he married."

The chaplain described religious and educational work at Charlestown. He mentioned that the state was educating the men who are educating themselves to build a new penal institution out in the country somewhere, where the men can see nature and get away from present sordid surroundings.

"We are saving men down there," said the chaplain. "Fully 50 per cent of the men discharged never return, and of the paroled men 90 per cent

IT MADE MIDDLE WEST TOURISTS FEEL RIGHT AT HOME

All the best regulated tourist folders insist that California has a little bit of everything to be found anywhere. That Kansans, Nebraskans and residents of certain other sections of the Middle West might feel at home, the "Golden State" recently added "tornadoes" to the list of attractions. The first one hit Sacramento, the state capital, and literally "raised the roof." Twelve persons were injured, the city corporation yards demolished, several houses partially wrecked and a couple of "hunger schools" carried on a short journey. The photograph shows the wrecked condition of the corporation yards.

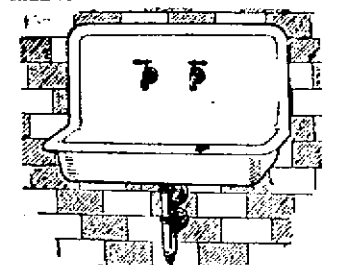

EIGHT WHEELS FOR NEW TYPE AUTO BUS

The eight-wheel bus of a type here pictured may supersede the six-wheel vehicle for passenger traffic if demonstrations now being made in Los Angeles uphold the claims of R. B. Fagel who designed it. The front four wheels in series are used for steering, the rear four for braking and driving. Easier riding qualities, non-skidding, and better distribution of strain are claims made for the new type bus which is 20 feet long, carries 20 passengers and develops a 50-mile speed.

THE EXTRAS

The delegates are relatively few, altogether there are but a score or two. But they sure have brought along an extraordinary throng To assist them in their labors of converting swords and sabers Into plows,
And of turning ships to serap, thus preventing, it mayhap,
Future rows.

For each delegation carries clerks, attaches, secretaries, Couriers and guards and flunkies, busy secret service hunkies; And they clutter up the traffic with assistants stenographic, With interpreters and aides, butlers, valets, chambermaids. Experts naval, diplomatic, military, bureauveratic.

Each headquarters fairly swarms with a flock of uniforms. Of its aide-de-camps and sentries; clerks are busy making entries In a lot of bulky books, while in corners and in nooks Messengers and porters lurk, trying to appear at work.

Feverish the life that swells round the Washington hotels. Round the various legations of the peace-conferring nations. Every delegation that gathers here has trailing it A huge secretariat like the tail behind a comet; For it takes a lot of capers by a bunch of secretaries, And a lot of notes and papers penned by supernumeraries, And a lot of fuss and feathers of worry and alarm, When the nations get together to disarm.

FRANCE REASSURED

Coming from the expressions of the leaders at the armistice conference, it seems to be the general conviction that England and the United States will stand ready to go to the aid of France in case she should again be attacked by an overpowering foe.

It seems that Premier Briand's appeal for physical and moral support for France in case of attack has had its effect in another attitude among the three powers that were the leaders in the recent war—France, England and the United States. It is not likely that any treaty will be adopted specifically binding the United States and England to come to the aid of France in case of attack by Germany or by Russia and Germany combined. It seems to be the belief, however, that three powers have offered France their moral support and that if she should again be threatened in a manner that would not only menace her own integrity but also the civilization of Europe, England and the United States could not stand idly by, inasmuch as their interests would also be involved in any such conflict.

When Mr. Hughes said that "there can be no moral isolation for the defenders of liberty and justice" and that "no words ever spoken by Briand fell upon deaf ears in the United States," he gave Premier Briand and France ground for hope and belief that the uniform friendship of the United States will always be with France and that no treaty is needed to give that sentiment official and binding effect.

Therefore, it is, that Premier Briand who came here at great peril to his political fortunes, will carry home with him the definite assurance that should France be attacked by overpowering foes, she can rely upon the aid of England and the United States. For the present, this will remain an understanding only; but it will have its moral effect with France and with her possible enemies. It may render unnecessary the maintenance of a powerful army by France and will thus lead to a reduction of land as well as of naval forces. Should this eventually take place, it will be a great boon for France, as it will enable her to turn her energies and her financial resources into the work of reconstruction instead of preparing for another great war.

SACCO-VANZETTI

It is very difficult to understand how the movement against the conviction of Sacco and Vanzetti attained such widespread proportions. It has swept over several countries in Europe, over a large portion of South America and perhaps over half the states of this Union. It has been taken up by radical propagandists and transferred to the most desperate communists and anarchists. The embassies of the United States in different countries have been threatened and some of them have been actually bombed with murderous intent.

In view of this situation it is well to deal with this case in the most cautious manner so as to convince the world that there is no foundation for the charge of a mistrial and that no Massachusetts court is open to the charge of being unjust or unfair. No Massachusetts court is open to the charge of which these men are accused, crime of which these men are accused, was a post serious one, the murder of a paymaster in cold blood, deliberately plotted and carried out with robbery as the motive. But in spite of the heinous character of the crime, the men must not be convicted upon any flimsy or inconclusive evidence and we are quite sure that no Massachusetts jury would convict any man on the charge of murder without having evidence that proves his guilt beyond the shadow of a doubt.

It is understood that these men are likely to get a new trial, and if so, it should be conducted in the most open and cautious manner in order to assure the world that the Massachusetts court seek only justice and would rather let many guilty criminals escape than convict one upon a charge of which he was innocent. But if the evidence duly attested in court, proves these men guilty, then they should pay the penalty regardless of the protests of their radical friends. Justice must not be overthrown by threats made against the courts or against government officials who have nothing to do with the trial.

RELAX A LITTLE

Some men take life too seriously. Some prefer to take their duties seriously, and perhaps it is well in a municipal campaign, for instance, where levity sometimes rules, to call attention to the necessity of being serious when dealing with politics. A man's entire life should not be a solemn cloud which, too frequently, brings on a spirit of foreboding that does no one any good, least of all the man who reads from the bank of doubt and pessimism.

We read that General Pershing is a very serious man. Undoubtedly the loss of several members of his family by tragedy a few years ago has left its mark upon the mind and temperament of that distinguished soldier. Yet even Gen. Pershing has his playful moments. Witness his not so long ago at a fancy dress ball, disguised as a Turkish sultan, in a dressing gown and curly-tied pig-tails. He is reported to be in the best of health and undoubtedly to find his life mentally as well as physically.

Many a man can have tremendous responsibilities and a lot of work to carry forward, and yet find time to play. The playful man is not always a time-killer. Play is just as much a part of human life as work. A good physician has said that play is a "kink" out of our mental system and flushes out the fatigue poisons."

Real relaxation of the healthy sort is a medicine well worth keeping in a handy place. It will be profitable when it is not taken to excess.

ARMY DESERTERS

It appears from the records at Washington that no great excitement followed the reports of "army desertions" during the Spanish-American war. Senator Lodge is authority for the statement that "it does not appear that President McKinley issued any proclamation relative to deserters from organizations in service during the war with Spain." So far as deserters at large from volunteer organizations were concerned, it was held by the war department that, subsequent to the mustering-out of all volunteer organizations, former members thereof who had been dropped from the rolls as deserters were no longer amenable to trial by general court-martial for their offense.

The record is clear enough, but what happened during the Spanish-American war period and afterward in army control and regulations, has no bearing upon the method of treating rank deserters from the loyalties of the great war. Military discipline improves with the years, and desertion is no longer looked upon as a side issue even in the military camps of the United States.

SAVE THE SONGBIRDS

Judge Prescott Keyes of the Concord police court is determined that men who ply their trade of killing American songbirds in his jurisdiction, shall pay the fullest penalty of the law. The magistrate is to be congratulated on his determination. It is indeed a great satisfaction to all lovers of the songbird to hear of a judge in a country town who believes in enforcing the laws and in inflicting a punishment to fit the crime. Lowell court justices, too, have an excellent reputation in that respect, but in some other sections of Massachusetts the courts are too lenient with such offenders. There will be no incentive for game wardens to make arrests of law-breakers unless court justices uphold them when they have cases of game guilt before them. Judge Keyes recently fined a lawbreaker who had been convicted of netting and killing songbirds, $140. The bird-netters will keep away from the Concord jurisdiction after this.

PUBLIC MARKETS

Numerous large cities in Massachusetts have so-called public market locations on important streets in some of their business sections. Other cities set aside street areas on which country fruit and vegetable vendors may come and ply their trade. A good many people have, perhaps, wondered why Lowell has never had a very successful street market. The reason is not hard to find. It is very evident that the majority of Lowell merchants who handle country produce, sell the goods at very low retail prices, and there really isn't any chance for country merchants to come in and compete to advantage with the local stores, which aim to buy and sell with small turnovers in the profit line. There is no incentive for out-of-town vendors to come here when Lowell merchants are offering similar goods for prices actually asked by the growers of farming products.

HE KNOWS

Dr. Stephen Smith, who will be 89 years old next February, attracts attention at a health exposition. He founded the American Public Health association.

"To live long," says he, "work hard, keep out of the easy life, get plenty of sleep, drink lots of milk and do not eat too much meat."

Dr. Smith knows what he is talking about. He was sickly until he reached 60. He lived mainly on crackers, toast and thickened milk. Then he became robust by the rules he recommends.

YUKON

Far up north, in the frozen Yukon, a political campaign is being waged. Candidates are traveling hundreds of miles on dog sleds, rounding up votes. It is only a few years since the Yukon was ruled by the man with the quiver and trigger finger. Now the gold-miners, who paid tribute to the man with the quiver and trigger finger, are the rulers. The white man's civilization brings the ballot in place of the bullet. Like the bullet, the ballot often is a blank cartridge.

In the gray dawn of the morning, the election commissioners, counters, reporters, of all, awaiting returns at city hall, lay back in their chairs half asleep with but six of the 25 precincts to be counted.

Of course the legislature will be asked to amend the charter so that the municipal council can fix the hours for opening the polls in all primary and other elections.

Let's hope this is the last time on which the polls will be kept open till 10 p. m. or later than 8 p. m. for any purpose.

The candidates who went into this contest for advertising purposes, may be surprised to find how few voters thought of them in the polling booths.

Increased output of steel mills is regarded as another indication of recovery. Yet it is not the only one.

It will be well along in December before all our citizens get back to a normal sanity.

There will not be so many candidates next year and only fifty will be on the ballot in December.

Whoever holds the key to disarmament can do the world a good turn.

Some people talk in their sleep and others in their talk.

The expression "thin as a reed" is popularly used to describe an advanced stage of emaciation. But the origin is in India, where a certain variety of reed taken in excess renders its victims blind from sunset to sunrise, or during the period of the moon is shining. The condition in extreme cases lasts as long as 15 or 19 days.

COWS COME BACK

"That aren't the only animals that come back," says Frank Clough of Bow, N. H. Last Saturday Frank and his brother Harry each sold a cow and the animals were taken to Concord, a distance of about 12 miles. Monday morning when Frank went out to his barn the two cows were in the yard. They had walked back the entire distance alone, coming most of the way by the state road, as they were seen by neighbors looking along toward home Sunday.

English Viewpoint

Lord Ribbles was explaining the English viewpoint on armaments to a reporter. "Do you take me?" he asked. "Do you take me?" The interviewer looked blankly at his lordship. "Oh, I say," Ribbles exclaimed, "I have made an error. I mean, do you get me?"

Self-Centered

The thoughts I think are all my own; I sweep them in my heart. And often things I say suggest Quite other thoughts, instead. Free and untrammelled are my thoughts.

I like to have them so; I like to think a lot of things And still have no one know! I'm bound in many other ways As everybody sees; But when it comes to thinking, I can think just what I please. And so my thoughts are fancy free; I ponder my affairs, And no one knows what thoughts I think. And maybe no one cares! —Somerville Journal.

FIRE DRILL AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

The 900 odd students of the high school emptied the building in the quick time of four minutes and 50 seconds during a fire drill yesterday. The rapid exit was carried out in very orderly fashion, not a hitch occurring while the "fire" was in progress. The boys and girls were instructed to leave the building by the Kirk street door, the authorities believing that in case of a real fire, the street might be blocked. The students then marched around Kirk and Merrimack streets and returned to the building through the Anne street door.

We Do Not Recommend

Allen's Lung Healer

As a Cure for Consumption

But we do claim and have proven time without number that it will prevent the disease in many cases by its remarkable healing and germicidal properties. Its action on the lungs and bronchial tubes fortifies them against attack if used in season. An asthmatic lung cough weakens the lungs and opens wide the door for tubercular germs to enter and find lodgment. Allen's Lung Healer cures these obstinate lung coughs, thereby preventing consumption. If your lungs are susceptible to colds, you should take the Lung Healer on the first symptoms of a cold, thereby preventing further trouble.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Sara Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Abolitionist

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowels ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a nervous action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system. If you have a pale face, yellow taint, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headache, a listless, no-good feeling, all sorts of nervous troubles, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets daily for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. See and see.—Adv.

BEAUTY IS HARMONY

There can be no harmony, and therefore no beauty, in a home in which the wife and mother is cross and fretful and ill-spirited. Often as not, discord is at the bottom of such a condition.

The woman who is always tired and who suffers from nervousness and ill-humor, and who only tries Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, she will then see that the beauty and harmony will be restored to her home with the return of her health and good spirits.—Adv.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Ty Cobb, the Great, who manages the Detroit American league baseball club in the playing season, paid a visit to Lowell years ago when the City of Spindlers prided itself upon a real baseball town that won many victories. An old-timer told The Man About Town that Ty sat in the grand stand and made several comments referring to some of the playing of a visiting team. At one time, when he got a little excited, he shouted to an umpire:

"This him a fifty—line him!" A dench from Los Angeles Monday reminds me that the famous Detroit ball player still knows what baseball fines are. I read a news item from Los Angeles that told of Cobb's being fined $150 Sunday for squabbling with Umpire Phelan. One hundred dollars of that fine was imposed for "delaying the game."

The Lowell Rotary club believes in the efficacy of advertising. The Man About Town also thinks that members of this wide-spread organization appreciate the efforts of The Sun to properly feature the weekly meetings of this hustling club whenever there is any news to print. I am told that since the first of November, there has been a large increase in the attendance at the button street headquarters of the percentage of Rotary membership present at the dinner November 1 was 73.1. At the Nov. 8 meeting, the figures went up to 73.9. On November 15 it increased to 81.6. Which again proves that advertising—even news advertising—pays.

Another Lowell business man likes to take a jaunt out into the far country occasionally with a good shotgun over his right shoulder and a bag for wild game. A. E. O'Hair is very popular with the hunters of the woods and brush so often as some of his friends who have more time to get away. You can't get Mr. O'Hair to say much about his hunting trips, but his friends agree that he knows the good locations and no one can tell him much about the method of sighting along the barrel line.

The chauffeur kingdom is always a good place to hear good stories. Lowell has a "Chauffeurs' Club" as some other cities have. One in Albany, N. Y., is about as lively a place during the after-hour sessions, as one would care to visit. They told a good story not long ago at one of the Albany meetings, which comes to The Man About Town second hand, but is just as good for that. A certain kind of the front seat, heavy, good brass and everything, wanted to get a job with more money attached. He pondered long and deeply over the subject of putting an advertisement in the local paper. Soon the ideas began to come, and this is what he wrote:

"Chauffeur wants a good position with real money. Sees but sees nothing. Hears but hears nothing. Talks but says nothing. Address —"

A Lowell hunter tells me that squirrels are laying up large stores of nuts and even the friendly angels are about as busy as squirrels. One worm is going down deeper into the soil. He is sure this means a long, cold, hard winter. But I wonder if my informant knows that squirrels do not depend solely upon nuts for their winter food. Did he ever see squirrels in a pine forest stripping little seeds from the million from pine cones? These seeds, I am told, will provide more real nourishment for the average squirrel than walnuts, and they seem to prefer the cones if they can get them handy. I know a cemetery in this country where there are numerous pine trees, and the ground in the fall is always covered with pine cones that have been stripped of every seed by the little fellows.

Massachusetts was very well represented at the annual meeting of the chamber of commerce secretaries at Hartford, Conn., last Friday and Saturday. I noticed in looking over the list of delegates that the old Bay State was better represented than any other state in New England. Lowell, of course, had her delegate, and other live Bay State cities like Boston, Holyoke, New Bedford and Haverhill were also represented. Other cities and large towns sent representatives of their hustling business organizations, and there were numerous speakers of great ability who gave the convention meetings something worth hearing. If the chamber of commerce secretaries come to Lowell next year, as present plans seem to indicate, wait and see how well we do. It is the entertaining line. Hartford did finely last week. It is up to Lowell to beat her record, and I believe we will. It is probable that more delegates will come here than were able to go to Connecticut last week.

Five Santa Fe Officials Killed

Thanks — BY — Tom Sims

Exactly as was predicted by this paper several weeks ago, Thanksgiving day has arrived.

Also, as predicted, it falls on a holiday.

Of course, the odds favored us in this because nearly all great celebrations fall on holidays.

Thanksgiving day, contrary to belief, was not originated by turkey-growers and dealers.

Even the cranberry men were absent.

It started 300 years ago, when the Pilgrims thought of how much obliged they were for living.

Their celebration was held on wild turkeys while the only thing wild about our turkeys is the price.

Wild turkey prices are harder to tame than wild turkeys were.

In fact, some of us must do without turkey. These can be thankful that there will be no hawk Friday.

They can laugh while the others are talking turkey.

The Pilgrims, of whom we spoke, invited only the Indians. We invite Godfellowes and everybody.

But they spelled it "thankful" while some of us spell it "thankful."

They practiced the "giving" while we mostly notice the "thanks."

For those who think they have nothing to be thankful for we give several reasons free.

Be thankful that you are not properly who has been sitting around the corner for nine months.

Be thankful you are not the missing link. Just think of what he is missing.

Be thankful you are not Tom Edson who doesn't sleep much.

Be thankful you don't have to have your picture made 365 days a year like Harding.

Really all of us can be thankful except the turkey gobblers.

Kat, blink and be weary, for Friday we may be in bed.

OBJECTIONS TO SLAUGHTER HOUSE

The application of Ren W. and Clayton O. Philbrick for a slaughterhouse license in North Billerica met vicious opposition last evening at a hearing held before the selectmen. The petitioners wanted to conduct a slaughterhouse on the Bridge road from now until April. Twenty people, all taxpayers living in that district, objected to the license being granted. The objections were that the odors would be disagreeable and the value of property in that district would decrease.

Ren W. Philbrick, speaking for the petitioners, explained that the business would be carried on only during the winter months and on the days Tuesday and Friday. He declared that he saw no reason why the license should not be granted. Forrest F. Collier, an attorney of Billerica, who owns property on both sides of the spot selected for the slaughterhouse, opposed the granting of the license. Another who was opposed to the proposition was Parley Davidson, representing his mother, who owns a cottage on the property in question. Others opposed were Thomas J. Lynch, representing the Alpine Club of Lowell, which owns a camp nearby; Joseph Hurley of the Hemlock Club, Mr. Ford of the Suburban Land Co. of Boston, which owns property in that vicinity; John Granfield, Fred C. Campbell, Alfred Wallace and "Cy" Merrill, Manager Brand of the Suburban Land Co. sent a telegram to voice his disapproval.

VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS

Six new members were enrolled in Walker-Rogers Post No. 662, Veterans of Foreign Wars, at the regular meeting in Memorial hall, last evening. The attendance indicated the great interest being shown in the activities of this organization. Five applications for membership will be acted upon at the next meeting.

The members listened to a very interesting report from the delegation which attended the joint celebration of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, held in Haverhill on Armistice day. The reception was well attended, although many members from this city were unable to make the trip. The hall held in the evening by the Legionnaires was a great success.

Lowell members of Post 662 are pleased with the slides being shown at Keith's theatre, which call upon ex-service men who fought overseas to join the Veterans' organization.

Another "open meeting" will be held on Saturday, November 27, at 8 o'clock, at the principal speaker scheduled to appear. He will explain the value of a service organization and urge veterans to join some order for their own good. The date for the meeting will be announced just as soon as the committee can select a date. All veterans of the great war are to receive invitations to attend.

It was announced today that Commander George D. Crowell had been appointed assistant deputy chief of staff for Middlesex county. All veterans are very glad to see a local man advance from the ranks of Post 662, which was organized last April. Adj. W. C. Kirk has completed reports of all meetings held, and is making a very capable man for the berth. His friends say.

The next meeting of the post will be held Dec. 12.

SHOE MANUFACTURERS REJECT MEN'S PLAN

LYNN, Nov. 23.—The Lynn Manufacturers' association last night declined a proposition submitted last week by the joint council of the United Shoe Workers of America for a two months' trial of a wage cut of 20 per cent, while the union should conduct a searching investigation into the Lynn shoe industry.

The association offered a counter-proposition to cut wages 20 per cent. until May, 1922, while a committee of five representatives of employers and employees should study factory working conditions.

The manufacturers' committee told the joint council that refusal of the union proposition was based on the assumption that the union inquiry into the industry would mean exposure of all the secrets of the trade to union representatives who insisted upon examining the company's books.

The proposed committee of five should include one representative of the employers, one of the joint council of employees, an additional representative to be selected by each of the first two, and the fifth committee member to be chosen by the first four or by the state board of arbitration.

On the recommendation of this committee, wages would be based on earnings May 1, 1922, the manufacturers suggested, urging a prompt response from the joint council because of continued loss of business while

CITY BUILDING PLANS

Interesting Talk at All Souls Church by Boston Architect

A plea for the further development of the esthetic side of urban life, particularly in city building, was made last evening before the New club of All Souls church by J. Randolph Coolidge, Jr., well known Boston architect.

Mr. Coolidge described the various types of American architecture, using lantern slides to depict more clearly the examples of churches, municipal buildings and homes.

Examples of recent development in buildings were shown on the screen, including groups of famous cathedrals. Princeton university, some of the latest office buildings in New York city and a few of the beautiful suburban houses in Oak Park, Ill., and country homes on Long Island. Mr. Coolidge answered many questions after his lecture.

SUPPORT PLEDGED TO EDUCATION WEEK

Patriotic, civic, commercial and educational organizations throughout the United States have been invited by the national headquarters of the American Legion to co-operate with the National Education association in conducting an "American Education Week" from Dec. 1 to 10. The legion has pledged its support, and posts in Lowell and other cities and towns are working to promote the enterprise.

President Harding, the governors of the several states and the mayors of all large cities have been requested to issue proclamations setting aside the week for educational purposes. The purpose of the week will be to arouse the value of education for the making of better citizens and creating a more abiding interest in the children of America.

Churches, chambers of commerce and luncheon clubs are to support the movement, as well as fraternal organizations, and there will be numerous public meetings all over the country.

The American commission of the Legion requested the National Education association to co-operate in fostering true Americanism in all the schools. The association granted the request and arrangements were made for "American Education Week."

The association has resolved that all teachers in America must be American citizens and should be required to take an oath of allegiance to the government of the United States. It has further been resolved by the association:

That no one should be permitted to teach in any school in America who has less than a standard high school education of four years, with not less than two additional years of professional training. That the English language should be the only basic language of instruction in all public, private and parochial elementary and high schools.

That adequate instruction should be required in American history and civics for graduation from both the elementary and high schools. That the American flag should be displayed by every school during school hours and that patriotic exercises should be conducted regularly in all schools and further that the American Legion be invited to furnish speakers from time to time at these and other exercises of the schools.

That school attendance should be made compulsory throughout the United States for a minimum of 25 weeks annually to the end of the high school period, or to the age of 18.

That an educational week should be observed in all communities annually for the purpose of informing the public of the accomplishments and needs of the public schools and to secure the co-operation and support of the public in meeting these needs.

DID HOUSEWORK IN WHEEL CHAIR CRIPPLED WITH RHEUMATISM

Winthrop Woman Now Walks and Claims Recovery Due to Weldons

"I am now able to do my work walking after being confined to a wheel chair by rheumatism," said Mrs. L. M. Grundy, who lives at 294 Revere street, Winthrop, Mass. She continued: "I suffered for five years from rheumatism. My knees were sore and stiff and I had to be lifted in and out of the chair and bring on a paroxysm. I was treated by physicians who did everything they could, but they failed to benefit me.

"I had heard a great deal about Weldons, and thought I would give it a trial. I had not taken Weldons more than a month before I saw it was helping me and by continuing the treatment I am able to get about the house without my wheel chair and now do my housework without any assistance whatever. I had often seen letters recommending Weldons, and wondered if they were true; now I the chair. If I attempted to stand I would fall. My fingers were sore and stiff and I was afraid of anyone coming near me for fear they would touch know they are. I cannot praise Weldons too highly."

Science Discovers Thousands Suffer From Lack of One Vital Element in Their Food—VITAMINES

supply just what your body needs. If you are run down, nervous, anemic, thin and baggard looking or lack vitality and energy you will find it to your benefit to make the following test: First weigh and measure yourself, next take two of DR. CAREY'S MEDIC-YEEST TABLETS after each meal. Then weigh and measure yourself again each week and continue taking DR. CAREY'S MEDIC-YEEST TABLETS after each meal regularly until you are thoroughly satisfied with your gain in weight, strength and energy.

DR. CAREY'S MEDIC-YEEST TABLETS round out the face and figure with firm flesh, give color to the cheeks and brilliancy to the eyes—skin eruptions, pimples and boils miraculously disappear.

DR. CAREY'S MEDIC-YEEST TABLETS are economical and easy to take. By getting the essential yeast vitamins in these concentrated tablets you run no risk of upsetting the stomach and satisfactory results are positively guaranteed or the small amount you pay for the trial will be cheerfully refunded.

Write the name down and accept only the genuine. For many reasons no other tablet can take its place. Ask for DR. CAREY'S MEDIC-YEEST TABLETS at all good druggists, such as Fred Howard, A. W. Dows, F. H. Butler & Co., 315 Middlesex st.; Southey & Dehate, 612 Merrimack st.—Adv.

Unless we have enough of this health maintaining vitamin in our daily food we cannot be vigorous and robust—as science has proven by the experiments on the chickens as shown above. Modern diet lacks this vital element which is abundant in uncooked food and green, leafy vegetables, but usually destroyed in cooking with the result that we do not get enough vitamins to give us the strength and energy we should have.

DR. CAREY'S MEDIC-YEEST TABLETS supplied this missing element to the diet of the chicken and with the desired result shown in the illustration above.

DR. CAREY'S MEDIC-YEEST TABLETS contain the three important vitamins (Fat soluble A and Water soluble B and C) and taken into the system give you strength and energy. They build up the body with firm flesh and tissue, strengthen the nerves and circulate the whole system. DR. CAREY'S MEDIC-YEEST TABLETS

AR CIVIL WAR IN BELFAST

ing Reached Climax Yesterday With Shooting, Bombing and Turmoil

total Casualties up to Midnight Stood 13 Dead, 50 Wounded

LONDON, Nov. 23.—(By the Associated Press)—Rioting which began in Belfast Sunday, had its climax yesterday in a state of shooting, bombing and turmoil approaching civil war. It is declared the disorders were planned to coincide with the assumption yesterday of the government of Ulster by the northern parliament.

While it seems established that the Sinn Feiners were responsible for the bombing of a tram car full of shipyard workers late in the afternoon and the consequent death of three persons and injury of 30, the various accounts of the day's disorders suggest that the aggression on the whole was reciprocal and due to the ever-existing rancor between the nationalists and Orangemen.

The total casualties up to midnight last night stood at 13 persons dead, more than 50 seriously wounded in the hospitals and scores of other persons less seriously injured.

The entire force of soldiers and police in Belfast is said to be unable to cope with a situation such as arose yesterday.

Another Killing
BELFAST, Nov. 23.—(By the Associated Press) Belfast's long list of fatalities as the result of factional fighting began to grow today, one victim being added to the 13 killed in outbreaks attending the assumption of governmental powers by the new Ulster parliament yesterday.

A foreman who was engaging laborers in Dock street, for the shipyard, was picked off by a sniper. He dropped dead on the spot.

Workmen's cars in the early hours preceded without lights so that they might have better chances of reaching their destinations without casualties.

Loss Estimated at $10,000—Fire at New Haven Causes $50,000 Loss

BOSTON, Nov. 23.—Fire in the Copley Square hotel early today caused 449 guests to be roused from their beds and assembled in reception rooms. New regulations to be enforced on dairy farms supplying these communities represented in the New England City and Town Milk council, were unanimously adopted at a meeting yesterday of the New England City and Town Milk council in Boston city hall annex. Health Commissioner W. C. Woodward of Boston presided. Communities in the council include Lowell, Boston, Brookline, Winchester, Springfield, Waltham, Worcester, Somerville, Salem, Quincy, Lynn, Portland, Me., and Hartford, Conn.
The regulations are promulgated after a thorough investigation of conditions in up-country dairies. It is the aim of the council members to insure a pure milk supply. All agree not to accept milk below standard and to report promptly to headquarters in Boston all dairy farms in the respective community of each where sanitary standards are permitted to become lax.
The requirements for processing plants, receiving stations and distributing plants are as follows:
"Milk shall not be processed in any room or building which is not provided with light, smooth walls, floors and ceilings to be of such construction as will allow easy and thorough cleaning."
"Milk plants shall be free from flies and vermin."
"Water supply shall be sanitary and sufficient."
"All sewage and waste products shall be cared for in a sanitary manner."
"Sufficient and convenient wash bowls and toilets shall be provided for employees."
"Boilers shall be separated from the processing portion of the plant."
"Equipment shall be of proper construction and shall be installed in a sanitary manner."
"Shrinking, pulleys, cold-water piping or other obstructions shall not be placed over milk processing equipment."
"Pasteurization shall be efficient. Pasteurizers shall be equipped with automatic recording temperature devices, and charts therefrom shall be preserved and accessible to health officers."
"Coolers shall be separately enclosed or otherwise protected."
"Weighing cans, pre-heaters, re-circulating and holding vats shall be covered."
"Milk as received from producers shall be clean and the temperature shall not be above 59 degrees Fahrenheit."

BRITISH GRATIFIED OVER BETROTHAL

LONDON, Nov. 23.—The morning newspapers express satisfaction at the betrothal of the Princess Mary to an Englishman, and equally approve her choice of a husband in the Viscount Lascelles. It is emphasized that there would have been general disappointment if she had married a member of foreign royalty and thus have left England, where she is universally popular.
Expressions of gratification over the betrothal, are coming from people in all parts of the empire. Congratulations messages were pouring into Buckingham Palace today from every direction, bearing affectionate expressions of loyalty and good wishes from all ranks of the British community.
A large crowd assembled outside the palace this morning in hopes of greeting the princess when she drove out. Meantime the Irish guards band played bright and tuneful selections in the forecourt of the palace during the customary changing of the guard.

ON EXPORTATION OF LIQUOR

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Hearings on proposed amendments to the existing regulations governing the exportation of intoxicating liquor will be held here next Tuesday.

Organizations and concerns interested in the shipment of liquor and alcohol across the border will be heard on the new rules.

NEW PROPOSALS TO SINN FEIN

Lloyd George Submits Various Alternative Offers for Meeting Ulster's Objections

Sinn Fein Publicity Department Declares None Acceptable to Dail Eireann

LONDON, Nov. 23 (by the Associated Press).—The first formal conference between representatives of the government and of the Sinn Fein since the meetings between the British cabinet members and the Ulster representatives was held in Downing street this morning. Prime Minister Lloyd George, Viscount Birkenhead, the lord chancellor, met Arthur Griffith and Michael Collins, the Dail Eireann delegates, who were accompanied to the prime minister's official residence by James J. Duggan.
The government at the conference put before the Sinn Fein various alternative proposals, for meeting Ulster's objection to the proposed All-Ireland parliament, as well as a suggestion that Ulster be left temporarily as she is, while the rest of Ireland receives fiscal autonomy, which would make its taxation less than that of Ulster.
The Sinn Fein publicity department, however, declares the Dail Eireann can consent to none of these plans. The All-Ireland parliament, it declares, must be established at the outset and not postponed for any term of years. It likewise insists that the parliament must be so constituted that Ulster shall not have more than her proportional representation in the body.
The Sinn Fein objects strongly to any proposals which would leave Ulster, or any part of it, outside the Irish system.
Ulster objects to any All-Ireland parliament and refuses to abandon its representation in the imperial parliament. It is declared, on the condition that the six counties had in such a parliament the same representation as the remaining 26 counties.
Thus tomorrow, it appears, Mr. Lloyd George will have to inform Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, of the Sinn Fein's refusal to concede this point. Sir James was to have met the British premier today, but the Ulster premier's indisposition caused the postponement of the conference which now is expected to take place tomorrow.

GALWAY, Ireland, Nov. 23. (By the Associated Press.)—Forty political prisoners confined in the prison here rushed the warders today while a fire of uncertain origin was blazing in two sections of the structure. The men seized the keys and barricaded themselves with six warders in another part of the prison.

The fire was brought under control, but subsequently a desperate struggle occurred between the rebellious prisoners and their custodians in which five policemen and five prisoners were injured.

When the alarm was given the military guards were reinforced by a fire-fighting party and other military aid.

Heavy doors were smashed and steel stairs broken down by the military section in efforts to reach the barricaded prisoners and release the kidnapped warders. In the resulting fight the police used their batons, while the prisoners wielded iron bars and other implements.

The 10 injured were treated in the prison hospital. The military reinforcements and an armored car were withdrawn when order had been restored.

MAURICE BOGDONOFF DIES IN MELROSE

CONFERENCE ON ARMAMENTS

Delegates Hold First Executive Session With the French Group

Hope to Press Negotiations to Point of Formal Expression Before Briand Leaves

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(By the Associated Press.)—The delegations of the five powers went into their first executive conference on land armaments today with the French group, hoping that the negotiations would be pressed to the point of a formal expression of some character before the departure of Premier Briand for France.

Just what direction such an expression could take at the present stage was an uncertain event in the minds of the French themselves, and they took their places at the table prepared to shape details of their program in the light of suggestions from the other delegates. The premier would like to take home with him a definite declaration of the powers supporting France in her determination not to weaken materially her

PELLETIER ASKS WRIT

Declares Statute Under Which Removal is Sought is Unconstitutional

BOSTON, Nov. 23.—District Attorney Joseph C. Pelletier today attacked as unconstitutional the statute under which the original proceedings for his removal from office were brought before the supreme court.

He filed with the court a petition asking for a writ of prohibition to restrain further action on the information which was filed against him by Attorney General J. Weston Allen on October 26. This information alleged misconduct in office.

The district attorney in his petition contended that as his was an elective office, he could be removed only by impeachment proceedings before the legislature. The statute which gives a majority of the justices of the supreme court the right to remove a district attorney after hearing is in conflict with the 14th amendment to the constitution of the United States, he asserted, in that it tends to deprive him of his property without due process of law and denies him the equal protection of the laws. It was under this statute that the supreme court recently removed Nathan A. Tufts from the office of district attorney of Middlesex county. The charges were similar in general.

Mr. Pelletier announced that should the state supreme court fail to grant his petition for a writ of prohibition, he would bring the matter to the federal court.

The petition, which names Chief Justice Rugg and six other justices of the supreme court as the respondents, asserts that the statute under which the action against Pelletier was brought "is a law which abridges the right of the petitioner to be elected to public employment as guaranteed by the ninth article of the bill of rights of the inhabitants of the commonwealth."

His removal, and the appointment of another person to the office of district attorney would, the petition says, interfere with the freedom of an election and deny the inhabitants of the district of their right to elect a district attorney and the petitioner of his right to hold that office by virtue of an election.

"There is no remedy in law or equity which the petitioner or the inhabitants of the Suffolk district have against the wrongs and injuries proposed and intended by the respondents except a writ of prohibition," the petition says in conclusion.

Arguments on the question of jurisdiction in connection with Pelletier's petition for a writ of prohibition were for next Friday by Chief Justice Rugg. He instructed the clerk to notify the district attorney and Attorney General Allen to appear before Justice De Courcy to argue the matter.

In his formal answer to the second petition for his removal, which was filed with the clerk of the supreme court, District Attorney Pelletier denied that he had been guilty, as charged, of malfeasance, misfeasance and nonfeasance in office, that he had conducted himself in an unlawful and reprehensible manner, and that he was an unfit person to hold the office. He denied each and every allegation and particularly set forth in each and every paragraph of the specifications "the answer said.

ARBUCKLE JURY VISITS HOTEL

Inspect Suite Where Comedian is Alleged to Have Attacked Miss Rappe

Finger Prints on Door Said to Have Been Made During Struggle

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—The jury trying Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle for manslaughter today was to visit the Hotel St. Francis suite where the film comedian, host at a party last Labor Day, is alleged to have inflicted injuries on Virginia Rappe, screen actress, which caused her death.

High spots of the proceedings in Judge Louderback's court yesterday when the prosecution closed, were testimony concerning finger prints on a door, declared to have been made in a struggle between Arbuckle and Miss Rappe; an assertion by a hotel maid that she heard a woman screaming in the suite, and the exclusion of evidence of a detective who had declared Miss Rappe had made a statement to him favorable to the defendant.

BOX OF BONES IN COURT

Passed to Jurors for Examination at Trial of "Bluebeard" Landru.

VERSAILLES, Nov. 23.—(By the Associated Press.)—A small tin box containing a pound and a half of bones was passed around today for examination by the jury which is trying "Bluebeard" Landru for murder. The prosecution claims they are human bones, all that remain of the 11 alleged victims of the prisoner.

Some of the fragments were so small that they had to be examined by microscopes. The defense challenges the authenticity of the bones.

"What has been your method of examining victims—by firearms, poison or strangling?" was Judge Gilbert's first question to Landru as court reconvened today.

"It would be much simpler to make the hypothesis that I killed none at all," responded Landru.

The prosecution undertook to prove that the alleged victims were cremated by the prisoner in the small cook stove, placed in the center of the courtyard. The prisoner shouted derisively: "Why, you couldn't cremate a chicken in it."

The prosecution charges that the "Bluebeard" used the stove to cremate his alleged victims after he had chopped them up into bits.

STRANGLED TO DEATH

Chicago Man Admits Murder of Sister-in-Law as She Rocked Cradle

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—A story of heartlessness, poverty and robbery was mixed with that of concern for his wife in the confession today of Thomas Catherwood, 25, that he had strangled his sister-in-law, Mrs. Betty Sharples, to death, yesterday, while she rocked the cradle of her 12-month-old child and worked on tiny garments for another child, expected within a month.

For weeks Catherwood had been out of a job and his wife finally said she would obtain a loan to support the family. It was concern for his wife and dread of her going to work which Catherwood told the police, forced him to wind a rope about Mrs. Sharples' neck and steal the $55 in her bank-book.

ON LAND ARMAMENTS

Big Five Discuss Question But Arrive at no Definite Policy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(By the Associated Press.)—The delegations of the five powers discussed land armament today but no definite declaration of policy resulted from their deliberations.

None of the powers, it was understood, presented any proposal looking toward a concrete pronouncement supporting the French attitude toward army reduction as outlined to the full conference in plenary session Monday by Premier Briand.

Premier Briand, attending his last meeting of the armament group before his departure for France, made a brief presentation of the exact position of his government, and it was said that a general discussion followed along the lines of that in which the powers expressed general appreciation of the French position at Monday's session.

The debate led the delegates into the consideration of specific problems of land armament and it was decided to appoint sub-committees to deal with such subjects as airplanes, poisonous gases, and other auxiliary means of warfare.

Safe Margin for Thompson in 24 Precincts—Close Fight for Second Place in Mayoralty Contest

TWENTY-FOUR PRECINCTS HEARD FROM

The official returns from 24 precincts show the following results:

O'Sullivan	3557
Brown	3564
Thompson	5481
Scott	1558
Donovan	2997
Mignault	1758
Donnelly	2987

HON. PERRY D. THOMPSON

Unofficial returns based on the canvass of the 25 polling places indicated that Mayor Thompson is nominated by a substantial plurality. As to second place the fight lies between Mr. O'Sullivan and Mr. Brown so far as present indications point at 3:45. It seems the general impression, however, that Brown will make second place. Mr. Donnelly and Mr. Donovan have changed positions quite often, but while they rank high in some wards, their vote has fallen off in others, so that it seems their chances for nomination have vanished. The official figures regarding second place, however, may bring surprises and the returns from some wards had not been received.

Much disappointment was felt on all sides at the delay in receiving the returns. As the day advanced interest centered particularly in the mayoralty contest and the inquiries were persistent as to who should have second place.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

MILITARY EFFECT
IN SERGE

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The high military collar, with buttons reaching from beneath the ears in diverging lines to the under-sleeve line, adds an original touch to a Paul Poiret day costume of blue serge.

A basque effect is accentuated by rows of loose leather fringe, the same trimming finishing the unique sleeves which start from the collar and end in the bell-shaped cuff.

The skirt is full and round.

With this costume Poiret has designed a novel hat of steel velvet embroidered in silver nailheads. The hat is rather larger than the usual run of chapeaux on which nailheads are used and the effect is somewhat like an impregnable fortress door.

However, the steel hats are most artistic and becoming to a youthful countenance.

Adventures of the Twins

THE MAGICAL MUSHROOM

"OH, YOU DEAR-OLD MAGICAL MUSHROOM" CRIED NANCY.

Nancy and Nick put on their sweat-ers and tams and ran down to their favorite play ground under the old chestnut tree in the meadow. The tree had been busy all summer and autumn in its own quiet way, although, after its lovely, feathery, golden blossoms had disappeared in July, no one had noticed much what it was doing.

But now they were to find out, the Twins were, for suddenly Nick stopped and picked up a round, greeny-yellow, prickly thing cracked open at one end, and looking awfully like a secret inside like a dark brown, satiny, delicious secret, and one evidently that Nick knew about, for he gave a whoop of delight. "Oh, look, Nancy!" he cried. "Just look! It's the first chestnut-burr! Let's open it and get the nuts!"

He carried it over to the big gray stone you already know about, children, and if you don't tell you that that was where the twins' adventures first began, and where another one was about to begin, although, of course, that's a secret that I'm holding in my hand, for Nancy and Nick never so much as suspected what was in store for them.

Nancy ran for a little stone to hammer with and Nick laid his prize on a nice flat place, handling it very carefully, you may be sure, for chest-nut-burrs are stinky things.

Suddenly, out of autumn stillness came a sound they knew well, a voice, "Good morning, my dears," it said. "I see that Jack Frost has done something useful at last. He's helping the nut-trees to unload their crops."

"Oh, you dear old 'Magical Mushroom'!" cried Nancy. "Where are you?"

"Oh, there you are! I see you, most! We're so glad to see you, aren't we Nick? Where have you been? You'll have to tell us all about yourself."

How, with Nancy rattling on so, could Mr. Mushroom tell them about the Fairy Queen and Pin Pin?

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear. ## Psycho-Analysts to Create Plays to Fit Movie Stars

PSYCHOLOGISTS HAVE PEERED INTO THE HEAD AND HEART OF MARION AYE TO DETERMINE HER EMOTIONAL REACTIONS. PHOTOGRAPHS ARE BEING PREPARED TO SUIT HER TEMPERAMENT AS DISCLOSED BY THESE EXPERIMENTS.

BY JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Psycho-analysis is now being employed in the movies. Through it roles are being created to fit the temperament of players.

At least, that is the promise made by Victor Hugo Halperin, author, psychologist and literary associate of the late Elbert Hubbard.

Halperin has just concluded a psycho-analytical test of Marion Aye and has set about to write a series of starring vehicles for her based on the findings of his experiment.

Halperin in a series of experiments observed Miss Aye's reaction to tests of the creative, love, ego, intuitive, emotional, applicative and expressive attributes.

"It is far more important to know the inward characteristics of the actor than the outward," Halperin says. "Give me a psycho-analytical chart of an actor and I will create for him a role that will call into play and develop every ounce of talent in him. That is because it will be a natural role, one exactly suited to his temperament and he will be happy doing it."

"We do our best work when we set our 'glad' ganglia going. Stars in the past have often accepted parts which promised to bring out their histrionic abilities to the best advantage. Yet they proved failures in these roles because neither they nor their directors knew that temperamentally and physically they were unfit for the characterization."

"Henceforth," Halperin says, "thoughts photograph. The time is coming when every casting director will have along with his file of faces a file of psychological data, similar, perhaps, to that prepared for Miss Aye. Then each player will be perfectly cast."

APPLYING THE THEORY

The idea of ascertaining the mental and temperamental qualifications of a screen player in order to place them in roles that fit seems to be one of merit.

It might just as well be applied to screen writers and directors. Then the scheme might be perfect.

What of a director who is temperamentally unfit to direct players of a certain type? What of the writer, who knowing the qualifications of a player, is temperamentally unequipped to write a suitable story to grasp the needs of that player's temperament?

The story and the direction are as important in the evolution of a motion picture as the acting.

FAVORS PARDON FOR DR. ATWOOD

BOSTON, Nov. 23.—The pardon committee of the governor's council at the close of a hearing yesterday on application for a pardon for Dr. Elbridge G. Atwood of Woburn, confessed slayer of Dr. W. E. Harris of Boston, announced it would report to the full council today. Dr. Atwood was sentenced in 1917 to life imprisonment.

The petition for pardon had the support of the entire advisory board of pardons and was submitted as "in keeping with the spirit of Thanksgiving." Dr. Atwood in confessing that he killed Dr. Harris said it was to defend a woman's honor. This was after it had been alleged that Dr. Harris had had improper relations with Dr. Celia Adams of Brookline, who committed suicide shortly before the murder.

IRISH PRISONERS ESCAPE BY TUNNEL

DUBLIN, Nov. 23.—It is reported that a number of political prisoners, a majority of whom are supposed to have been transferred from Spike Island near Cork last Friday night, have escaped from the Kilkenney jail by tunnelling. It is said that 47 of the men got away.

A dispatch from Cork last Saturday said that 400 Irish republic sympathizers, the last of the interned men at Spike Island were moved from the island Friday night and taken to the former convict settlement of Mayborough.

NORTH CHELSEA NEWS

Miss Mary McCuskey, of North Chelsea, was surprised by a group of her friends assembled in the St. John's church hall to shower her in honor of her coming marriage on Thanksgiving Day to Mr. Albert Reeves of Graniteville. The bride-to-be was the recipient of many gifts which included a dinner set from the St. John's ladies' auxiliary, a society of which Miss McCuskey is a member. The presentation in behalf of the auxiliary was made by Miss Loretta McCuskey, president of the society. She also received various other gifts including linens, cut glass, silver, aluminum, and a beautiful piece of hand made lingerie, and a variety of party pictures. The hall was decorated in harmony with the occasion, and the entertainment of a very pleasing nature was furnished which included several solos by Mr. Reeves. Much hilarity and merriment was evidenced during the performance of a mock marriage which was played in by Miss Gertrude Welch, Mrs. Sidney Ferguson and Mrs. A. Beaudeau. Dancing was then in full swing to tickle

VISCOUNT LASCELLES TO WED PRINCESS MARY

LONDON, Nov. 23.—(By A.P.)—The betrothal of Princess Mary, only daughter of King George and Queen Mary, to Viscount Lascelles was announced last night.

King George at a council meeting in Buckingham palace yesterday had previously announced that he had given his consent to the marriage.

Premier Lloyd George, archbishop of Canterbury, Viscount Birkenhead and the cabinet ministers, were present at the council meeting, after which the premier had an audience with the king. Later Viscount Lascelles dined with the king and queen and his fiancée.

The engagement of Princess Mary, which has been awaited by the British public with considerable interest and curiosity, is another break in royal tradition which is likely to be extremely popular with the king's subjects.

There are precedents, however, for going outside royal houses for partners. For instance, the marriage of Queen Victoria's daughter Louise to the Earl of Fife.

Princess Mary is only a little less entitled to the hearts of the people than her brother, the Prince of Wales.

BACK TO THE FARM

Ten thousand "back to the farm" converts have been made as the result of a western livestock show held recently in San Francisco. One of the important functions of the exposition was to give school children a liberal education in the health, wealth and happiness possibilities that lie in getting away from the city and into the country. Thousands "signed the pledge." In the photo Lavinia Eckles, aged 11, is showing how simple it is to strike up a flirtation with a $10,000 prize bull.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

By Theatres Own Press Agents

R. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

"Alice in Blunderland," a very clever musical travesty on some of the plays that are now current, is admirably presented at the R. F. Keith theatre, this week, by Florence Ames and Addie Winthrop. It is consistently of high grade, played in the true travesty manner. There are many most interesting details in it, which will bear watching. The Elm City Four, for two years at the New York Hippodrome, are melody-makers of special ability, and with a repertoire that is nothing if not full of pep. Then there is "The Wife Saver," played very fast by H. B. Toomer & Co. It will give a lot of laughing pleasure. Joe Towle, with his reminiscences of France and some other things, is one of the top notches. Others on the bill are: Gertrude Morgan, singer; Max York's canines, and Dell & Gliss, musical clowns.

OPERA HOUSE

If you are desirous of enjoying two hours of scenic pleasure, don't miss this week's presentation by the Lowell Players, of George M. Cohan's big musical play, "45 Minutes From Broadway." The cast is a large one, including several members of the Lowell High School Glee club, and every one engaged is making a big hit. The musical numbers, particularly, are genuine successes, while the comedy features are very cleverly handled. Capacity audiences testify to its popularity. Thursday's matinee performance will start at 2 o'clock instead of the usual hour of 2.15. Next week's

GAINS 14 POUNDS IN THREE WEEKS' TIME

ROCHESTER BUSINESS MAN IS BACK ON JOB FEELING LIKE A NEW PERSON

"Tanlac has certainly been a fast worker in my case," said Irving E. Albert, of 500 Court St., Rochester, N. Y., manager of the grocery department at the H. G. Cram market, in concluding his experience with the medicine, recently.

"Six weeks ago I got out of the hospital where for five weeks I had a cold, being operated on for appendicitis and complications. I had lost 35 pounds and was so thin and weak I could hardly stand up. My appetite was completely gone, and my stomach was so upset that I could neither relish nor enjoy any kind of food. The big question with me was how to gain strength back, but the various things I took didn't help me any, and I was standing still and making no progress. I was in terrible condition, and was told it would be two or three months before I should work any at all."

"However, I struck upon the right thing when I began taking Tanlac, for I commenced mending from the very start and in three weeks' time gained back 14 pounds of my lost weight and was reporting for business again. I have my old time appetite and my food agrees with me perfectly. I used to suffer from nervousness and constipation, too, but they have entirely gone now, and I don't wake up at night, as I did. I am certainly climbing up a rapid rate, and am only too glad to let others know what a great medicine Tanlac is."

Tanlac and Tanlac Vegetable Pills are sold in Lowell by Green's Drug store under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative, Dr. Wright Drug Co., Billerica, Mass.; D. Fells, Chelmsford, Mass.; Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass., and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

A BLOOD BUILDER FOR TIRED WOMEN

Pepto-Mangan Makes Red Blood—Sold in Liquid or Tablet Form

When a woman overworks, either mentally or physically, there is a strain on the vitality. Getting up in the morning she feels low in spirits. Her eyes are dull, her complexion is pallid or pasty.

A few bottles of Gude's Pepto-Mangan taken in regular doses is what will build up her blood.

The reason for this is known. It is simply that Gude's Pepto-Mangan makes good rich red blood. It has the things in it that make new blood and drive out the poisons in the system. New blood makes new vigor and gradually the depressed feelings vanish, the natural healthy glow comes back to the skin and there is pleasure in living.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan is sold at drug stores in liquid or tablet form. The full name, Gude's Pepto-Mangan, is on each package.—Adv.

production will be the stirring melodrama, "Why Girls Leave Home," which was made from Will Catolet's story. Manager Schaefer has succeeded in getting the famous "Farr-Hill" company of New York to report its stirring illustrated history of the Irish rebellion, showing the burning of Cork, and many exciting scenes leading up to the truth in Ireland. Irish music is also a feature. This will be next Sunday afternoon and evening.

MERRIMACK SQ. THEATRE

The unusual spectacle of tears in the eyes of screen artists while they played important parts was witnessed at a New York theatre some time ago, at a performance of the William Fox production, "Over the Hill," the sensational New York screen success which comes to the Merrimack Square theatre for the entire week starting Sunday, Nov. 27.

It happened that Mrs. Carr, who plays the mother in the picture, which was made from Will Catolet's well-known poem—too her four children (who also appear as the children in the picture) to see how they would like it. From the Carr children laughed gleefully at all the funny scenes in the picture but when the story came to the part where the little mother is in adverse circumstances and is rescued from a life of toil and poverty by her "black sheep" son, it was noticed that all four of them were crying.

Stephen Carr, one of the boys, was the first to regain his composure. He turned to his little sister, Rosemary, who sat beside him asking, "What in the world are you crying about?" Rosemary dabbed her eyes with a handkerchief before she replied: "Because Mama is just as sweet in the picture as she is at home."

THE STRAND

The last chance today of seeing one of the best northwest stories ever screened. See "God's Country and the Lady," and you will see one of the most artistic and gripping stories of the Northwest of the season. The scenic effects are truly wonderful, while the work of the engaging cast is beyond praise. "God's Country and the Lady" is another good film story.

Beginning tomorrow and continuing the remainder of the week the program will have May Allison in "Big Game" and Gladys Walton in "The Rowdy." Both of these pictures are unusual photographs and have every element that goes in the making of enjoyable film offerings. Besides there will be the usual comedy and Weekly Round-up of the Thursday's performance start at 12 o'clock noon. Come early and avoid the crush.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Final performances of "The Call of the North," starring Jack Holt, and "Enchantment," with Marion Davies in the leading role, will be given at the Merrimack Square theatre this evening. Tomorrow, there will be a complete change of program.

The features for Thursday, Friday and Saturday will prove most attractive to every type of theatregoer. The unadorned attractions will be "After Midnight," an exciting adventure-story of life in the upper and lower world, with Conway Tearle in the leading role, and "Such a Little Queen," charming piece of entertainment, featuring pretty Constance Binney.

"After Midnight" is for the most part a story of life in the underworld, with occasional glimpses at high social life. Tearle portrays the parts of twin brothers, one a man of wealth, whose morals and habits have been ruined by the love of a low-class girl, and the other an aimless wanderer who has never forgotten the injustice done him years before by his brother, who cheated him out of his share of their dead father's fortune.

IRISH CONCERT

Because of the general demand for the return of the Irish artists who appeared at the Opera House last week, the management has decided to secure their services for next Sunday again, in an entirely new program of Irish music and pictures. Shaun O'Farrell, the Irish troubadour, will sing "The Irish Volunteer," "Mother Acushla" and "Little Bridget Flynn." Also Miss Kitty O'Sullivan, John Nolan, the Wicklow piper, and Miss Nora O'Rourke will also assist. The pictures will be all new and will be shown for the first time in America. They were recently brought to this country and show conditions of recent events in the Emerald Isle.

RIALTO THEATRE

Marshall Neilan's latest production "Bits of Life," drawn together from four different angles, is making its last appearance at the Rialto theatre today and if you miss it you will be sorry. The other attractions are equal in quality and show William Fairbanks in "Top," a comedy and the Kinograms. Beginning tomorrow the Rialto will have a return engagement of Charles Chaplin and young Jackie Coogan in "The Kid." Don't fail to see it.

DANCE AND WHIST

The 11th annual dance and whist of Lowell council, 19, Knights de L'Espee, a national organization for the deaf, will take place in Merrimack hall this evening. An elaborate program has been prepared and valuable prizes will be awarded to winners at whist and various games to be played. Dancing will follow the whist and entertainment.

Each square foot of the earth's surface receives about 29 million tons of energy a year from the sun.

TAKE YEAST THE BEST WAY—WITH IRON

If Weak, Thin or Run-Down Take Ironized Yeast, the Great New Vitamine Tonic Treatment in Tablet Form

At last the perfect yeast combination has been discovered! No longer will it be necessary for people to put up with all the objectionable features of eating ordinary baking yeast for health. For yeast may now be taken in convenient tablet form, combined with iron, which is necessary in order to get the best benefit from yeast.

This preparation is called Ironized Yeast, and is the approved vitamin tonic treatment for run-down condition, loss of weight, nervousness, lack of energy, poor appetite, skin eruptions and other run-down symptoms.

The reason Ironized Yeast is bringing such splendid results everywhere is because it contains highly concentrated brewer's yeast, which is far richer in vitamins than ordinary baking yeast. Vitamins, as we know, are one of the most essential of all food elements—yet our modern diet is almost entirely lacking in them.

If you are weak, pale, sickly—if you are nervous, irritable and can't sleep nights—if your vitality is low and you are getting old before your time—then try this remarkable new tonic. You will notice a good improvement in your condition even after the first few days' use. Pimples, boils and other skin blemishes usually disappear entirely within two weeks. Everywhere people are saying that Ironized Yeast is just the tonic they needed.

Ironized Yeast will keep indefinitely, and costs no more per dose than common yeast. Each package contains 10 days' treatment and costs only $1.00—or just 10¢ a day. Special directions for children in each package. Sold at all druggists. Made by the Ironized Yeast Company, Atlanta, GA.—Adv.

WHY A 100-YEAR-OLD WOMAN IS THANKFUL

MRS. EMILY LABERTEAUX DRAKE

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 22.—What should a 100-year-old woman give thanks for on Thanksgiving day? Why, for being alive, of course. But, more than that, for having lived through a whole century and having seen the world develop in the most wonderful century of its history, says Mrs. Emily Laberteaux Drake, who is "going on 101."

When Mrs. Drake was born in 1821—Everybody traveled on horseback or in horse-drawn vehicles. All of North America except the Atlantic seaboard was a howling wilderness. Napoleon was still living and Europe was just getting on its feet again after the war into which he plunged the continent. The United States was about as inportant as Czechoslovakia is today. "And I'm going to give thanks for the privilege of seeing the world grow from that to what it is now," Mrs. Drake says.

"I watched our country grow up! I lived through the gold rush to California and the later gold rush to the Klondike."

"I saw the automobile replace the horse. And, let me tell you, I don't object to a spin now and then, myself."

"Then I saw the telegraph develop and later the telephone that lets me call on my friends while I stay right here at home."

"When the world war was on, I read about submarines and remembered that when I was a girl, the fastest ship was a sailing vessel that took months to cross the Atlantic."

Harding's Most Intimate Friend Bares His Soul

GAMALIEL TURKEY

This eleventh-hour message arrived in this morning's mail from Washington, D. C. It is the last written statement of Gamaliel Turkey, who was executed last night and who tomorrow graces the festal board of Warren G. Harding, president of the United States.

BY GAMALIEL TURKEY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Tonight I die.

Before I go I have something to say. Not long ago, when I was elected to come to Washington for a session with President Harding, I made arrangements to write my story after seeing him. But I don't believe that I'm going to be in a position to talk then. That's why I'm doing it now.

profit by it. But I live simply, avoiding excesses and thinking little about the rules of health, and I have not spent one day in bed in more than 40 years. Not everyone can have as good health as I have, but a great many more people could have it than now do have it.

That I have a home and family. We began very simply. Our house cost not quite two hundred dollars and the lot two hundred and the other improvements about two hundred more. Our furniture less than two hundred. One thousand dollars would have paid the bills and did. And the house was mortgaged—for I did not have a thousand dollars. But if you call that poverty, you do not know the meaning of the word. I am and always have been a rich man.

That I have a job. I have never been out of work, and I do not think that I shall ever be out of work. I work long hours, and I work seven days a week, and I go to bed very laid job turns up, Harding finds he can't stomach the pachyderm any longer and sends for me.

But don't interpret that as an outburst against Harding. I like him, and expect to become very intimate with him. Why, some of my ancestors were on the inside with some very noted people.

I'm perfectly willing to give Harding everything I've got, even if it means my neck will be cooked later. I appreciate very much the honor that has been bestowed upon me, and am trying hard not to lose my head.

I'm proud of the fact that I have not cracked under the strain. But I fear that will come later.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT

Man Arraigned on Statutory Charge is Held for Superior Court

John Tolera, 49 years old, of Lowell, was held in $500 bail for the superior court by Judge Enright in district court this morning on a statutory charge. A young woman testified against the defendant. The latter said he was a language teacher here.

Patrick Bradley, charged with drunkenness, was given a continuance until December 3, bail being fixed at $200.

Alfred Marchand was held in $200 security for drunkenness until Friday.

ABOUT THIS TIME O' YEAR

Berton Braley's Daily Poem
The GREAT QUESTION

All of the questions that commonly worry us—
Questions of Capital, Labor and such,
Questions of business that oftentimes flurry us—
They are forgotten, today, pretty much;
There's but one question we freely reiterate
(Waiting for food that we plan to obliterate),
"When do we eat?"

Smells from the kitchen are witching and savory,
Odors of turkey and dressing and pies;
What if our stomachs do hold us in slavery,
It is a bondage we joyfully prize;
Off for today is all banting and dieting,
We shall gorge grandly until we're replete,
Meanwhile we cry, as our hunger grows rioting,
"When do we eat?"

Thankful are we for the blessings that come to us,
Thankful for freedom and thankful for peace;
This is the day when the Fates can't be glum to us,
This is the time when our troubles decrease;
So all our faces are wearing a grin on them
(Boy, but the smell of the cooking is sweet!),
Bring on your viands and let us start in on them,
"When do we eat?"

THE WORLD'S MOST THANKFUL MOTHER

MRS. LORETTA CADLE AND HER SON HOWARD

But instead of dying, he prospered honestly and today—
He's a wealthy man, the owner of a string of 14 shoe repair shops, scattered through the country.

He's planning to increase his chain to 200 shops.

He has founded a $375,000 tabernacle at Indianapolis and another at Louisville, Ky., for religious worship and for worthy civic gatherings.

He has pledged himself to found a new tabernacle for every 10 repair shops he starts. All of them will be dedicated in memory of his mother.

Mrs. Cadle devoutly believes that all this is the result of her prayers for her son's regeneration.

Where will Mrs. Cadle spend Thanksgiving?
In the tabernacle her son has established here, giving thanks before the altar for the answering of her prayers.

So Cadle went home to die.

PLAY IS POSTPONED

Date of Harvard-Radcliffe Play is Changed to December 5th

The Harvard Dramatic club production for the benefit of the Radcliffe Endowment fund which was scheduled originally to take place at the Colonial theatre, December 3, has been changed to a different place and date. The production is now definitely arranged for Monday evening, December 5, at the Lowell Opera House. The change was made necessary owing to the large scale in which the two plays must be presented. The Colonial theatre, otherwise highly satisfactory, has a stage too small for the large sets required for the plays, particularly for the Argentinian set, which is out-of-doors scenery. Much credit should be given Mr. Bowers for his great interest and willingness to co-operate.

The scenery has been painted especially for these plays, and the club will bring its own properties and costumes. Fortunately, the club has ample funds which makes it possible to carry everything out with meticulous attention to artistic detail regardless of expense.

There are to be several presentations of the play in Cambridge, Boston, Lynn and at Wellesley. A number of persons prominent in North Shore society have planned to be present at row afternoon.

TUCK ART COLLECTION GIVEN TO PARIS

PARIS, Nov. 23.—The deed of gift by which the City of Paris becomes possessor of the art collections of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Tuck, with 1,000,000 francs for their installation in the Petit Palais, Champs Elysees, has just been signed. Mr. Tuck is an American philanthropist who has long lived in Paris.

These collections include tapestries, tapestried furniture, furniture, pictures, china, Sevres and Saxony porcelain, Battersea enamels, watches and several articles connected with Benjamin Franklin. Of the tapestries, the principal piece is "Psyche led by Zephyr into the Palace of Love" and "Psyche showing her riches to her sisters," manufactured at Beauvais, after designs by Boucher and formerly in possession of the Dukes of Marlborough at Blenheim. Among the furniture is a sedan chair, of unusual model, painted by Jean Bérain, which was made for Madame de Chartres, niece of Louis XIV. The pictures include some rare primitives, "La Belle Jardinière" by Boucher and two Fragonards. Benjamin Franklin is represented by his portrait by Greuze, another portrait attributed to Duplessis, a plaster statuette by Caffieri, probably a model made by the king's order for copying by the Sevres porcelain manufactory, a terra-cotta bust by Houdon (1778), a portrait in wax by Madame Tussaud, and several terra-cotta medallions by J. B. Nini. Edward Tuck is a retired banker, born in Exeter, N. H., 1842, who graduated at Dartmouth in 1862, where later he founded the Tuck school by a donation of $100,000. He was United States vice consul at Paris 1886-90. He built the American hospital in Paris and with his wife, Julia Stoll, has been a great benefactor to the town of Reims, close by which he lives and to which he has given a hospital and public park. He has made many gifts to Malmesbury, former residence of Napoleon, which is just outside the gates of Versailles. Tuck's country house, among them, the iron bed on which Napoleon died and a rose garden containing all the kinds of roses that Josephine once grew there.

FREEDOM OF NEW YORK

Now Freely Given to Visitors

Formerly Had to be Purchased With Beaver Skins

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—"To one freedom of the city—Six beaver skins." Entries like this would have dotted the debit side of the expense accounts of Koch, Diaz, Beatty, Jacques and others of the brilliant procession of old world figures drawn to America in the wake of the world war, had they come about three centuries earlier.

And instead of riding at the head of triumphal processions to the city halls of various municipalities, there to receive the freedom of the city at the hands of respectful mayors, to the accompaniment of bands and cheering throngs, they would have had to file petitions in court for their freedom and take oaths not to offend against the law of the land.

Conferring of the freedom of a city on a visitor has come to mean almost precisely the opposite of what it meant in the young days of America and earlier—in the medieval days in Merrie England.

"The origin of the custom of granting the freedom of the city to aliens is virtually lost in antiquity," said Prof. Harold McBain, instructor in municipal government at Columbia university, commenting on the round of brilliant receptions that have kept the mayors of New York and other cities almost constantly in tall hats and frock coats in recent months.

"It appears, however, to have grown directly out of the medieval organization of industry on a monopolistic basis, and was originally an economic measure, pure and simple.

"In the old English borough it amounted to a license to carry on business and, later, to vote. Without the status of a free man, conferred by the grant, a man could not rise above the class of employee.

"The early Dutch settlers of New Amsterdam—now New York—set up a similar status, called the burgher right, in 1614, as a protection against Scotch merchants and petty traders who spoil trade and business by underselling. Persons not holding the burgher right were prohibited from conducting business either with Christians or heathen. The fee was six beaver skins.

"Freedom of the city was prohibited for in the Dongan charter of 1684—the first English charter of New York city, and its dispensation was entrusted to the mayor or any three or more of the aldermen. The fee by this time was reckoned in British pounds instead of beaver skins—3 pounds, 12 shillings for the shopkeeper class and 1 pound, 4 shillings for handicraftsmen.

"Persons receiving the grant were required to take the oath, 'Obeyance and obedience shall ye be to the mayor and ministers of this city,' and swore to take turns at the watch, pay their taxes, and warn the mayor of any gatherings, conventicles or conspiracies made against the king's service."

It was in the latter part of the 18th century that the practice of bestowing a gratuitous, honorary freedom of the city appeared.

Early New York records recite the

TWO FRIENDS THAT HELP EACH OTHER

They call him Bruno. He's only a dog. But his legs serve as the legs of this Belgian soldier of Brussels who lost the use of his. The soldier does his share, too. On hard pulls he helps the dog by pumping the handle bars.

bestowal of the freedom of the city of New York on Capt. Sir Peter Warren for his exploits against the French and to Generals Shirley, Monckton and Gage.

"Later there is an entry showing the honor was bestowed on three sailors of a vessel lying in New York harbor, in recognition of their services in helping extinguish a disastrous fire."

"The formality had nearly died out when the termination of the war brought a revival, designed to honor noted visitors. Prof. McBain said he knew of no records showing the origin of the practice of delivering the 'keys of the city' to persons receiving the honor.

GREAT OIL FIELDS MAY CEASE PRODUCTION

BAKU, Azerbaijan, Nov. 23. (By a staff correspondent of the Associated Press).—Within six months the oil fields, lying within a few miles of this city and once counted among the richest petroleum wells in the world, will have ceased to produce, according to expert opinion, unless new machinery and better and more workmen are obtained.

This condition is acutely realized by the local Azerbaijan government which is controlled by Moscow. If the oil is not forthcoming, this will mean the stopping of the oil-burning steamers of the Caspian sea, several hundred in number, the 1000 or more tugboats and steamers of the Volga still in repair and the oil-burning locomotives of the entire railway system of greater Russia.

Efforts are being made to obtain machinery, possibly from the United States, by M. Serabrovsky, trained engineer and now general director of the oil fields, and also to induce workmen to work.

The pre-war production averaged annually about 18,000,000,000 pounds of crude petroleum and this year it will run about 5,000,000,000 at best. There have been but a few new wells this year and the old ones function slowly. The opening up of the nine line to Baku for foreign export is out of the question, as there is not enough oil and Russia consumes much of the present supply, herself.

The general cause given for this condition is described by competent oil engineers, long on the field, as the "gangrene" of soviet control. "Whatever the communists touch seems to go to rot," declared one engineer. "It seems like a fatality and the worst of it is that no amount of new machinery here will remedy the situation. New machinery would be broken up by incompetent, underfed workmen just as the old machinery has been."

This is a rather gloomy view taken by an anti-Bolshevik. The oil fields have to slow down four years ago. The present Moscow rule has severely suffered from the sins of its predecessors here.

It is feared there will be much difficulty in buying new machinery this winter, though the Azerbaijan government has a commercial mission at Constantinople that may go to the United States to get capital or credits for the machinery.

The labor situation is much more clear. Russia is denuded of her best thinkers, imperialists and communists, and likewise of her trained workers. In the oil fields where are needed 50,000 men, there are now possibly half that number and few of them trained and employers may even these are disinclined to work.

Before the war there were 126 private companies here, and each with a managing director, and now the work of all these directors falls on the shoulders of a few men. The workmen get one and a half pounds of black bread per day and soup, with neither butter nor meat and a pay of 3000 rubles (five to 10 cents) per month, which is just the price of a pound of bread.

New workmen are being brought in from among the troops of Gen. Wrangel in Constantinople and also from the famine zones, but with it all there seems no way to keep the man satisfied, or properly fed.

"Black Tom," as is called the oil refining and delivery district, presents a sad sight as compared to the old days. The buildings of the Nobel refinery, the most important of the companies represented, are going to ruin. Makeshift are the rule everywhere.

When the Moscow soviet took over the Azerbaijan republic a year and a half ago by buying up its officials and sending in the 11th red army, it expected to get oil for nothing.

Selection Officers Lunched

In precinct 2 of ward 9 a mistake was made in the counting that made it necessary to go over the ballot a second time for verification of all the totals.

At this precinct which is located in the basement of the Moody school building (Green on avenue) the officers had an argument that the officers had been at work all night with little to eat except some sandwiches and coffee. He called upon the cooking class to provide a luncheon for the election officers and the police.

At this precinct the hospitality thus extended was greatly appreciated.

Precinct 3 of ward 6 reported as follows: O'Sullivan 122, Brown 229, Thompson 15, and the unknown 121. No votes for Donnelly 65.

CURRIER SYSTEM NOT USED

Undoubtedly much of the delay in counting the primary votes was due to the fact that the ballots were not prepared in the form in which they could be used on the Currier counting board. As a result the ballots had to be counted individually for each and every office and candidate.

It was decided this morning to pay the precinct officers $15 each for their work at the primaries.

Long before a precinct was heard from, results of first blocks were received by the newspapers.

NON-EXISTENT

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Frank H. Hey, president and general manager of the Interborough Rapid Transit Co., testified today before the state transportation commission that the company's reported $2,000,000 shown in the June report of the company was actually non-existent.

Questioned by Commission Counsel Mr. Hedley said the June balance sheet listed the assets at $75,000,000, approximately 15,000,000 in deferred track and "state" debts of the New York and Queens county Railway Co. Although he believed personally that these assets should have been added to the company's assets, he declared to have done so would have been contrary to his understanding of

TIME PRISONERS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Extension of executive clemency to offenders against the war-time laws now giving prison sentences will be given early consideration by President Harding, it was said yesterday at the White House. The subject was discussed by the President and his cabinet and it was understood that a policy of leniency toward these offenders where possible was generally approved.

The President has asked the attorney general for a digest of each of the offenses and Mr. Daugherty expects to have the histories of the war law prisoners completed in two weeks. Under the administration's policy there would be no sweeping proclama-

It was not known until the legislature convened in January whether the bill would be introduced today. It concerned the right of the legislature to enact legislation making the state liquor laws conform with the Volstead act, and was filed under seal with the clerk of the senate.

IT MADE MIDDLE WEST TOURISTS FEEL RIGHT AT HOME

All the best regulated tourist folders insist that California has a little bit of everything to be found anywhere. That Kansans, Nebraskans and residents of certain other sections of the Middle West might feel at home, the "Golden State" recently added "tornadoes" to the list of attractions. The first one hit Sacramento, the state capital, and literally "raised the roof." Twelve persons were injured, the city corporation yards demolished, several houses partially wrecked and a couple of "bungalow schools" carried on a short journey. The photograph shows the wrecked condition of the corporation yards.

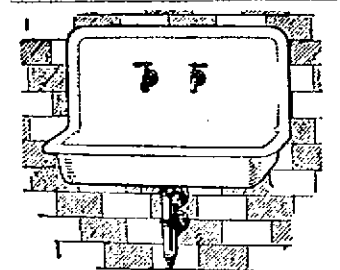

EIGHT WHEELS FOR NEW TYPE AUTO BUS

The eight-wheel bus of a type here pictured may supersede the six-wheel vehicle for passenger traffic if demonstrations now being made in Los Angeles uphold the claims of R. B. Fagel who designed it. The front four wheels in series are used for steering, the rear four for braking and driving. Easier riding qualities, non-skidding, and better distribution of strain are claims made for the new type bus which is 26 feet long, carries 20 passengers, and develops a 50-mile speed.

LOWELL-LAWRENCE GAME

Annual Gridiron Battle Between Rival High School Elevens Tomorrow

Tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at Spaulding park the annual game between the Lawrence and Lowell high school teams takes place when the forces of Capt. Liston meet the invading Lawrenceans. A battle royal may be expected when these time honored rivals meet. The two teams always seem to be evenly matched when they meet even though there may be a difference in the season records of the teams.

Berton Braley In Washington THE EXTRAS

The delegates are relatively few, altogether there are but a score or two. But they sure have brought along an extraordinary throng To assist them in their labors of converting swords and sabers Into plows, And of turning ships to scrap, thus preventing, it mayhap, Future rows.

For each delegation carries clerks, attaches, secretaries, Couriers and guards and flunkies, burly secret service bunkies; And they clutter up the traffic with assistants stenographic, With interpreters and aides, butlers, valets, chambermaids. Experts naval, diplomatic, military, bureaucratic.

Each headquarters fairly swarms with a flock of uniforms. Of its aide-de-camps and sentries; clerks are busy making entries In a lot of bulky books, while in corners and in nooks Messengers and porters lurk, trying to appear at work.

Feverish the life that swells round the Washington hotels. Round the various legations of the peace-conferring nations. Every delegation that gathers here has trailing it A huge secretariat like the tail behind a comet; For it takes a lot of capers by a bunch of secretaries, And a lot of notes and papers penned by supernumeraries, And a lot of fuss and feathers of worry and alarm, When the nations get together to disarm.

TWO AUTOMOBILES STOLEN IN CITY

Thieves Take Advantage of Heavy Mist to Make Away With Machines

Automobile thieves took advantage of the heavy mist that enshrouded the city last night by stealing two valuable automobiles from John Street and Church Street.

Some time between 8.30 and 10.30 o'clock a McFarland sedan, owned by Frank Gould of Lawrence, was taken from John Street while Mr. Gould with some friends was at Keith's theatre. It has a dark red body and the registration of this car is Mass. 3634.

About 9.30 o'clock a Velle touring car owned by Sabina G. Callahan of Boston road, North Billerica, was taken from Church Street. The registration of this car is Mass. 3634. The police were notified soon after both cars were missed and though a dragnet was spread throughout the city and suburbs within a few minutes after the thefts were reported there was no trace of them obtained.

CHEVROLET COMMERCIAL CARS

The special showing of Chevrolet Commercial cars this week is creating great interest to the business man of the city and to the farmers from surrounding districts. The 1/2 ton light delivery at $25 f. o. b. is one of the most economical cars in the market and appeals to grocers and provision dealers and the up-to-date farmer has purchased this car with extra seats and body for both business and pleasure. Two of the features that cannot be found in any other make is a new spiral bevelled rear hand emergency brake, which makes it a snappy speedy car and cheap to operate. There are two other models made to fit the needs of your particular business and it will pay you well to look these trucks over and be convinced. They are on exhibition of C. A. Senter Chevrolet Salesroom on Middlesex street. Telephone 3070.

BAITE BATTERIES

Every Hudson and Buick owner should patronize Conant's Battery station on Church street for their battery needs, as this live and on the job station makes a specialty of these two cars.

PITY THE POOR RICH MAN!

Nothing on his mind but his millions. Nothing in his bank but his stocks and bonds.

No quarrels with landlords, no disputes with tradesmen. No stint on what he shall eat and drink—so long as his belly band doesn't burst.

Then, when outraged nature rebels, the rich man takes his big bulk to the open air "baths" and the so-called mineral waters. But, we can't all do that. When you feel overfed and puffed up, with sharp pains and rheumatic twinges in the joints—don't feel discouraged.

Scientists have made a study of the European natural waters and have formulated a formula consisting of tonic and laxative salts fortified with lithia and sodium phosphate, which added to our drinking water makes it like the foreign brand. ## FRANCE REASSURED

Judging from the expressions of the leaders at the arms conference it seems to be the general conviction that England and the United States will stand ready to go to the aid of France in case she should again be attacked by an overpowering foe.

It seems that Premier Briand's appeal for physical and moral support for France in case of attack, has had its effect in another estimate among the three powers that were the leaders in the recent war—France, England and the United States. It is not likely that any treaty will be adopted specifically binding the United States and England to come to the aid of France in case of attack by Germany or by Russia and Germany combined. It seems to be the belief, however, that these powers have offered France their moral support and that if she should again be threatened in a manner that would not only menace her own integrity but also the civilization of Europe, England and the United States could not stand idly by, inasmuch as their interests would also be involved in any such conflict.

When Mr. Hughes said that "there can be no moral isolation for the defenders of liberty and justice" and that "no words ever spoken by France fell upon deaf ears in the United States," he gave Premier Briand and France ground for hope and belief that the uniform friendship of the United States will always be with France and that no treaty is needed to give that sentiment official and binding effect.

Therefore, it is, that Premier Briand who came here at great peril to his political fortunes, will carry home with him the definite assurance that should France be attacked by powerful foes, she can rely upon the aid of England and the United States. For the present, this will remain an understanding only; but it will have its moral effect with France and with her possible enemies. It may render unnecessary the maintenance of a powerful army by France and will thus lead to a reduction of land as well as of naval forces. Should this eventually take place, it will be a great boon for France, as it will enable her to turn her energies and her financial resources into the work of reconstruction instead of preparing for another great war.

SACCO-VANZETTI

It is very difficult to understand how the movement against the conviction of Sacco and Vanzetti attained such widespread proportions. It has swept over several countries in Europe—over a large portion of South America and perhaps over half the states of this Union. It has been taken up by radical propagandists and transferred to the most desperate communists and anarchists. The embassies of the United States in different countries have been threatened and some of them have been actually bombed with murderous intent.

In view of this situation it is well to deal with this case in the most cautious manner so as to convince the world that there is no foundation for the charge of a mistrial and that no Massachusetts court is open to the charge of being unjust or unfair. The crime of which these men are accused was a most serious one, the murder of a paymaster in cold blood, deliberately plotted and carried out with robbery as the motive. But in spite of the heinous character of the crime, the men must not be convicted upon any flimsy or inconclusive evidence and we are quite sure that no Massachusetts jury would convict any man on the charge of murder without having evidence that proves his guilt beyond the shadow of a doubt.

It is understood that these men are likely to get a new trial, and if so, it should be conducted in the most open and cautious manner in order to assure the world that the Massachusetts court seek only justice and would rather let many guilty criminals escape than convict one upon a charge of which he was innocent. But if the evidence duly attested in court, proves these men guilty, then they should pay the penalty regardless of the protests of their radical friends. Justice must not be overthrown by threats made against the courts or against government officials who have nothing to do with the trial.

RELAX A LITTLE

Some men take life too seriously. Some prefer to take their politics seriously, and perhaps it is well in a municipal campaign, for instance, where levity sometimes rules, to call attention to the necessity of being serious when dealing with politics. A man's entire life should not be under a solemn cloud which too frequently brings on a spirit of foreboding that does to one any good, least of all the man who sends forth the cloud-bank of doubt and pessimism.

We read that General Pershing is a very serious man. Unfortunately the loss of several members of his family by tragedy a few years ago has left its mark upon the mind and temperament of that distinguished soldier-citizen. Yet even Gen. Pershing has his playful moments. Witness him not so long ago at a fancy dress ball, disguised as a Turkish sultan, in red dressing gown and embroidered slippers. He relaxed for the time being and undoubtedly did not mind being taken seriously as well as playfully.

Many a man can have tremendous responsibilities and a lot of work to carry forward, and yet find time to play. The playful man is not always a time-killer. Play is just a normal part of human life and work. A good physician has said that play "takes the kinks out of our mental muscles and flushes out the fatigue poisons."

They had walked back the entire distance alone, coming most of the way by the state road, as they were seen by neighbors jogging along toward home Sunday.

FIRE DRILL AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

The 600 odd students of the high school crowded the building in the quick time of four minutes and 50 seconds during a fire drill yesterday.

The rapid exit was carried out in very orderly fashion, not a hitch occurring while the "fire" was in progress. The boys and girls were instructed to leave the building by the back street door, the authorities believing that in case of a real fire, Anne street might be blocked.

The students then marched around Kirk and Merrimack streets and returned to the building through the Anne street door.

Allen's Lung Healer

As a Cure for Consumption

But we do claim and have proven times without number that it will prevent the disease in many cases by its remarkable healing and germicidal properties. Its action on the lungs and bronchial tubes fortifies them against attack if used in season. An obstinate lung cough weakens the lungs and opens wide the door for tubercular germs to enter and find lodgment. Allen's Lung Healer cures these obstinate lung coughs, thereby preventing consumption. If your lungs are susceptible to colds, you should take the Lung Healer on the first symptoms of a cold, thereby preventing further trouble.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bile ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a woman's complexion to be sallow and her eyes to be red and watery.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headache, a listless, no-good feeling, heart out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasant results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful cathartic for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit, life and free—Adv.

BEAUTY IS HARMONY

There can be no harmony, and therefore no beauty, in a face in which the eyes and mouth are crossed and irritable and unbalanced. Often, as not, disease is at the bottom of such a condition.

But the woman who is always tired and who suffers from low spirits and nervousness, dizziness and pain, only try Horlick's Food. Vegetable Compound. See what then, what that beauty and harmony will be restored to her home with the return of her health and good spirits—Adv.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Ty Cobb, the Great, who manages the Detroit American League baseball club in the playing season, paid a visit to Lowell yesterday when the City of Spindlers picked itself upon a real baseball team that won many victories. An old-timer tells The Man About Town that Ty sat in the grand stand and made several comments regarding to some of the playing of a visiting team. At one time, when he got a little excited, he shouted to an umpire:

"Fine him a fifty—fine him!"

A dispatch from Los Angeles Monday reminds me that the famous Detroit ball player still knows what baseball fines are. I read a news item from Los Angeles that told of Cobb's being fined $150 Sunday for squabbling with umpire Phyllis. One hundred dollars of that fine was imposed for "delaying the game."

The Lowell Rotary club believes in the efficacy of advertising. The Man About Town also learns that the members of this wide-awake organization appreciate the efforts of The Sun to properly feature the weekly meetings of this bustling club whenever there is any news to print. I am told that since the first of November, there has been a large increase in the attendance at the Dutton street headquarters. The percentage of Rotary membership present at the dinner November 1 was 73.4. At the Nov. 8 meeting, the figures went up to 79.9. On November 15 it increased to 84.6. Which again proves that advertising—even news advertising—pays.

Another Lowell business man likes to take a jaunt out into the far country occasionally with a good shotgun over his right shoulder and a bag for wild game. A. E. O'Brien is very popular with the hunting fans, although he does not get into the woods and brush so often as some of his friends who have more time to get away. You can't get Mr. O'Brien to say much about his hunting trips, but his friends agree that he knows the good locations and no one can tell him much about the method of sighting along the barrel line.

The chauffeur kingdom is always a good place to hear good stories. Lowell has no "Chauffeurs' Club" as some other cities have. One in Albany, N. Y., is about as lively a place during the after-hour sessions, as one would care to visit. They told a good story not long ago at one of the Albany meetings, which comes to The Man About Town second hand, but is just as good for a' that: A certain kind of the front seat, lively, gold braided and everything, wanted to get a job with more money attached. He pondered long and deeply over the subject of putting an advertisement in the local paper. Some of the ideas began to come, and this is what he wrote:

"Chauffeur wants a good position with real money. Sees but sees nothing. Hears but hears nothing. Talks but says nothing. Address —"

A Lowell hunter tells me that squirrels are laying up large stores of nuts and even the friendly angleworm is going down deeper into the soil. He is sure this means a long, cold, hard winter. But I wonder if my informant knows that squirrels do not depend solely upon nuts for their winter food. Did he ever see squirrels in a pine forest stripping little seeds by the million from pine cones? These seeds, I am told, will provide more real nourishment for the average squirrel than walnuts, and they take a long time to eat. If they can get them handy, I know a cemetery in this county where there are numerous pine trees, and the ground in the fall is always covered with pine cones that have been stripped of every seed by the little fellows.

Massachusetts was very well represented at the annual meeting of the chamber of commerce secretaries at Hartford, Conn., last Friday and Saturday. I noticed in looking over the list of delegates that the old Bay State was better represented than any other state in New England. Lowell, of course, had her delegate, and other live Bay State cities like Boston, Holyoke, New Bedford and Haverhill were also represented. Other cities and large towns sent representatives of their bustling business organizations, and there were numerous speakers of great ability who gave the convention meetings something worth hearing. If the chamber of commerce secretaries come to Lowell next year, as present plans seem to indicate, wait and see how well we do it in the entertaining line. Hartford did finely last week. It is up to Lowell to beat her record, and I believe we will. It is probable that more delegates will come here than were able to go to Connecticut last week.

FIVE SANTA FE OFFICIALS KILLED

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 23.—W. H. Oiler of Los Angeles, engineer of the Grand division of the Atchafalaya, Topeka &amp; Santa Fe railway, assistant to the chief engineer of the coast lines of that road, and four division officials of that railway were killed yesterday when a motor inspection car overturned three miles north of Wickenburg, Ariz., 40 miles northwest of here.

Trains on Great Western Railway go as high as 75.8 miles an hour at certain points on the line.

Thanks — BY — Tom Sims

Exactly as was predicted by this paper several weeks ago, Thanksgiving day has arrived.

Also, as predicted, it falls on a holiday.

Of course, the odds favored us in this because nearly all great celebrations fall on holidays.

But then, if it had been one day sooner or one day later, we would have missed our guesses.

Thanksgiving day, contrary to belief, was not originated by turkey-growers and dealers.

Even the cranberry men were absent.

It started 300 years ago when the Pilgrims thought of how much obliged they were for living.

Their celebration was held on wild turkeys while the only thing wild about our turkeys is the price.

Wild turkey prices are harder to tame than wild turkeys were.

In fact, some of us must do without turkey. These can be thankful that there will be no hash Friday.

They can laugh while the others are talking turkey.

The Pilgrims, of whom we spoke, invited only the Redmen. We invite Oldfellows and everybody.

But they spelled it "thankful" while some of us spell it "thankful."

They practiced the "giving" while we mostly notice the "thanks."

For those who think they have nothing to be thankful for we give several reasons free.

Be thankful that you are not prospering who has been sitting around the corner for nine months.

Be thankful you are not the missing link. Just think of what he is missing.

Be thankful you are not Tom Edson who doesn't sleep much.

Be thankful you don't have to have your picture made 365 days a year like Harding.

Really all of us can be thankful except the turkey gobblers.

That, blink and be weary, for Friday we may be in bed.

OBJECTIONS TO SLAUGHTER HOUSE

The application of Ren W. and Clayton O. Philbrick for a slaughterhouse license in North Billerica met vigorous opposition last evening at a hearing held before the selectmen. The petitioners wanted to conduct a slaughterhouse on the bridge road from now until April. Twenty people, all taxpayers living in that district, objected to the license being granted. The objections were that the odors would be disagreeable and the value of property in that district would decrease.

Ren W. Philbrick, speaking for the petitioners, explained that the business would be carried on only during the winter months and on the days Tuesday and Friday. He declared that he saw no reason why the license should not be granted. Forrest E. Collier, an attorney of Billerica, who owns property on both sides of the road selected for the slaughterhouse, opposed the granting of the license. Another who was opposed to the proposition was Percy Davidson, representing his mother, who owns a cottage on the property in question. Others opposed were Thomas J. Lynch, representing the Alpine club of Lowell, which owns a camp nearby; Joseph Hurley of the Hancock club, Mr. Ford of the Suburban Land Co. of Boston, which owns property in that vicinity; John Grandfield, Fred C. Campbell, Alfred Wallace and "Cy" Merrill. Manager Wallace of the Suburban Land Co. sent a telegram to voice his disapproval.

VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS

Six new members were enrolled in Walker-Rogers Post No. 662, Veterans of Foreign Wars, at the regular meeting in Memorial hall, last evening. The attendance indicated the great interest being shown in the activities of this organization. Five applications for membership will be acted upon at the next meeting.

The members listened to a very interesting report from the delegation which attended the joint celebration of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, held in Haverhill on Armistice day. The reception was well attended, although not many members from this city were able to make the trip. The ball held in the evening by the Legion was a great success.

Lowell members of Post 662 are pleased with the slides being shown at Keith's theatre, which call upon ex-service men who fought overseas to join the Veterans' organization.

Another "open meeting" will be held soon. State Commander McDonald, having the principal speaker scheduled to appear. He will explain the value of a service organization and urge veterans to join some order for their own good. The date for the meeting will be announced just as soon as the committee can select a date. All veterans of the great war are to receive invitations to attend.

It was announced today that Commander George D. Crowell had been appointed assistant deputy chief of staff for Middlesex county. All veterans are very glad to see a local man advance from the ranks of Post 662, which was only organized last April.

Adj. W. C. Kirk has completed reports of all meetings held, and is making a very capable man for the berth. His friends say.

The next meeting of the post will be held Dec. 12.

Accused of Using Mails to Defraud

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Nov. 23.—Fench warrants were issued yesterday for the arrest of Matthew McBlain Thompson, Thomas Perrot, Dominic Bergero and Robert Jamieson. All are charged in indictments with using the mails to defraud, it being alleged that each of the men used the mails for the purpose of inducing persons throughout the United States to become members of the Confederate Supreme Councils of the American Masonic Federation, an alleged clandestine organization which has no connection with legitimate masonry. The men were arrested and held in bonds of $10,000 each.

When adjournment was taken yesterday—the first day of the trial—seven women and one man had been temporarily passed as jurors, another woman was undergoing examination and two other women and a man were in the box, awaiting questioning.

NEAR CIVIL WAR IN BELFAST

Rioting Reached Climax Yesterday With Shooting, Bombing and Turmoil

Total Casualties up to Midnight Stood 13 Dead, 50 Wounded

LONDON, Nov. 23.—(By the Associated Press)—Rioting which began yesterday in Belfast, had its climax in a state of shooting, bombing and turmoil approaching civil war. It is declared the disorders were planned to coincide with the assumption of the government of Ulster by the northern parliament.

While it seems established that the Sinn Feiners were responsible for the bombing of a train car full of shipyard workers late in the afternoon and the consequent death of three persons and injury of 30, the various accounts of the day's disorders suggest that the aggression on the whole was reciprocal and due to the ever-existing rancor between the nationalists and Orangemen.

The total casualties up to midnight last night stood at 13 persons dead, more than 50 seriously wounded in the hospitals and scores of other persons less seriously injured.

The entire force of soldiers and police in Belfast is said to be unable to cope with a situation such as arose yesterday.

Another Killing

BELFAST, Nov. 23.—(By the Associated Press)—Belfast's long list of fatalities as the result of factional rioting began to grow today, one victim being added to the 13 killed in one of the most serious of the day's outbreaks. A man was killed by a bullet from a revolver which was fired from a car.

A foreman who was engaged in laboring in Dock street, for the shipyard, was picked off by a sniper. He dropped dead on the spot.

Workmen's cars in the early hours proceeded without light so that they might have had chances of reaching their destinations without casualties.

FIRE IN COPLEY SQUARE HOTEL

449 Guests Roused From Their Beds and Assembled in Reception Room

Loss Estimated at $10,000—Fire at New Haven Causes $50,000 Loss

BOSTON, Nov. 23.—Fire in the Copley Square hotel early today caused 449 guests to be roused from their beds and assembled in reception rooms. The fire, discovered in the basement kitchen, burned upwards to the first floor, filling the building with smoke. It was nearly two hours before the guests were permitted to return to their rooms. The loss was estimated by Manager Edward Spraklin at $10,000. Police men saw the flames through a basement window and notified Night Clerk John Hayes. The latter aroused the guests and directed their assembly. Police who went up over a ladder checked up on occupants of the upper floors. There was no great excitement, police and fire officials said.

The fire was thought to have started from spontaneous combustion in the kitchen. Guests sustained no loss.

TURKEY STILL A HIGH PRICED BIRD

BOSTON, Nov. 23.—The Thanksgiving turkey was still a high-priced bird today, notwithstanding the campaign of the state commission on necessities of life to bring it down.

Householders marketing for tomorrow's dinner found retail prices ranging from 55 to 70 cents for good birds with choice ones bringing 75 cents. Dealers said they had seen no signs of the boycott which Chairman Eugene C. Sullivan of the state commission said yesterday had been noticed for several days. The tendency of prices in the wholesale market they said was slightly firmer than yesterday.

The commission had predicted a break in price within 48 hours.

BRITISH GRATIFIED OVER BETROTHAL

LONDON, Nov. 23.—The morning newspapers express satisfaction at the betrothal of the Princess Mary to an Englishman, and equally approve her choice of a husband in the Viscount Lascelles. It is emphasized that there would have been general disappointment if she had married a member of foreign royalty and thus have left England, where she is universally popular.

Expressions of gratification over the betrothal, are coming from people in all parts of the empire. Congratulatory messages were pouring into Buckingham Palace today from every direction, bearing affectionate expressions of loyalty and good wishes from all ranks of the British community.

A large crowd assembled outside the palace this morning in hopes of greeting the princess when she drove out. Meantime the Irish guards band played bright and tuneful selections in the forecourt of the palace during the customary changing of the guard.

ON EXPORTATION OF LIQUOR

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Hearings on proposed amendments to the existing regulations governing the exportation of intoxicating liquor will be held here next Tuesday.

Organizations and concerns interested in the shipment of liquor and alcohol across the border will be heard on the new rules.

NEW PROPOSALS TO SINN FEIN

Lloyd George Submits Various Alternative Offers for Meeting Ulster's Objections

Sinn Fein Publicity Department Declares None Acceptable to Dail Eireann

LONDON, Nov. 23 (by the Associated Press)—The first formal conference between representatives of the government and of the Sinn Fein since the meetings between the British cabinet members and the Ulster representatives was held in Downing street this morning. Prime Minister Lloyd George, Viscount Birkenhead, the lord chancellor, met Arthur Griffith and Michael Collins, the Dail Eireann delegates, who were accompanied to the prime minister's official residence by Eamon J. Duggan.

The government at the conference put before the Sinn Fein various alternative proposals, for meeting Ulster's objection to the proposed Ireland parliament, as well as a suggestion that Ulster be left temporarily as she is, while the rest of Ireland receives fiscal autonomy, which would make its taxation less than that of Ulster.

The Sinn Fein publicity department, however, declares the Dail Eireann can consent to none of these plans. The All-Ireland parliament, declared, must be established at the outset and it likewise insists that the parliament must be so constituted that Ulster shall not have more than her proportional representation in the body.

The Sinn Fein objects strongly to any proposals which would leave Ulster, or any part of it, outside the Irish system. It objects to any All-Ireland parliament and refuses to abandon its representation in the imperial parliament. It is declared, on the condition that the six counties had in such a parliament the same representation as the remaining 26 counties.

This tomorrow, it appears, Mr. Lloyd George will have to inform Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, of the Sinn Fein's refusal to concede this point. Sir James was to have met the British premier today, but the Ulster premier's indisposition caused the postponement of the conference which now is expected to take place tomorrow.

SAW CHILD STRUCK BY AUTO TRUCK

Declaring that she saw a truck owned by the Moorehouse Baking Co., "travel at a fast rate of speed" down Newhall street and strike her little daughter Marie when the latter was crossing the thoroughfare after returning from an errand to a nearby store, Mrs. Mary Russell of Newhall street, testifying for the defense, stated that she witnessed the accident and declared that the auto was "going about 25 or 30 miles an hour." She heard no warning signal, she said. The little girl appeared to "crumple up" when the automobile struck her. Court took a temporary adjournment at this point. J. J. Fogarty, Esq., appeared for the plaintiff, R. H. Ellsworth & Yant for the defendant.

ACT ON FORD'S OFFER

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 23.—Action bearing on the offer of Henry Ford to take over and operate the Muscle Shoals nitrate plant, was looked for at the closing sessions here today of the third annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation. A resolution was reported by a committee calling on the body to ask congress for favorable action on Mr. Ford's proposition.

Chester H. Gray, chairman of the Muscle Shoals committee which made an exhaustive study of the plant last April, issued a statement endorsing the Ford offer. He saw in it means whereby the farmers of the country could be saved from a shortage of nitrate for fertilizers which he predicted would reach heavy proportions by 1924, unless steps are taken immediately to increase the production of the commodity.

MARINES LAND NEAR SANTA CRUZ

Action Follows Report of Capture of American by Band of Bandits

American Embassy Calls Situation to Attention of Argentine Government

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 22.—S. J. Macleay of Kansas City, manager of the Armour Packing plant near the city of Santa Cruz, has been captured by bandits, who are also threatening to attack the plant, according to wireless reports received from Santa Cruz.

The American embassy called the situation to the attention of the Argentine government and marines are reported to have been landed at the plant today.

The bandits are reported to be mostly foreigners including Russians and to be well organized. Reinforcements of troops and marines sailed from here today for Santa Cruz.

The suit is brought in civil session of superior court by Marie, minor, living at 81 Newhall street, against the baking company to recover $2000 damages.

The mother testified this morning before Judge Bishop and a jury that she sent the child to a nearby store to purchase a roll of ribbon. The child made two trips and on the final journey home was injured. It is alleged by the defendant's auto truck.

Questioned by Attorney Hogan, the mother said she did not hear the driver of the auto blow any horn or give any other signals. She said she did not scream a warning to the little girl until the accident occurred, although she had been watching her progress across the street. Mrs. Russell testified that the child sustained a compound fracture of the left leg, and was kept in the hospital for several weeks. Later the mending leg was kept in a plaster cast until about the first of October. Mrs. Russell testified that she became ill before the child recovered the use of its injured leg.

Mr. Russell, father of the girl, testified that he was not at home when the accident occurred, but was called on the telephone during the noon hour on July 22, and at once went home. He described what attention was given to the child at the hospital and at home afterward.

Mrs. Julia Stafford of 71 Newhall street, testifying for the defense, stated that she witnessed the accident and declared that the auto was "going about 25 or 30 miles an hour." She heard no warning signal, she said. The little girl appeared to "crumple up" when the automobile struck her. Court took a temporary adjournment at this point. J. J. Fogarty, Esq., appeared for the plaintiff, R. H. Ellsworth & Yant for the defendant.
